NEW HOUSES BUILT IN CROSSETT, ARK.

CROSSETT, Ark., Sept. 18.—(Special)—This little south Arkansas industrial town continued to grow today as 10 more new houses were placed under construction, bringing the total of new residences completed this year to 220.

In September of last year building was started on 200 new frame residences, 125 for white employees and 75 for negro employees of the paper mill. The Crossett Housing corporation, a federal-insured company, was formed to handle the construction and renting of the first 200 new houses which were all occupied early this year. The second group of 20 residences was built on South Sixth street last month and are now occupied.

The population of Crossett having increased to an estimated 5,000 from the 1920 census of 2,811, officials recently realized the need for additional houses and construction of the last group of 10 was started this week in the south Crossett section.

AMMUNITION ASKED ATOP SHIVA TEMPLE

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., Sept. 18.—(P)—A request for ammunition, indicating he was stalking big game atop towering Shiva Temple, came today from Dr. Harold E. Anthony, mammalogy curator of the American Museum of Natural History.

"He apparently has found definite indications that sizeable animals inhabit the summit," Superintendent M. R. Tillotson, of Grand Canyon National park, radioed from the base camp to the south rim.

Meanwhile, Dr. Anthony and George Andrews, son of Roy Andrews, a museum director, plagued by mosquitoes and with only a partially filled canteen between them, watched their traps and awaited arrival of packers with water bags from the expedition's base camp.

Tillotson was unable to account for the mosquitoes on the isolated, semi-arid mesa.

"There is no water on the 275-acre plateau, and I am therefore at a loss to understand where they breed," said Tillotson.

Edwin D. McKee, park naturalist, who spent Thursday night atop the mesa and succeeded in trapping only two leaf-eared mice, explained that larger animals might exist, even though the complete isolation of the peak is established by adapting themselves to living on the moisture obtained from snow and rain and the vegetation they eat.

30 BANDS WILL COMPETE AT FAIR

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 18.—(Special)—At least 30 bands are expected to compete for prizes and honors in the annual band festival at the Louisiana State Fair. The date of the festival, which will be featured by contests among juvenile bands, has not yet been fixed, but Paul B. Thornton of the Louisiana State Normal college, of Natchitoches, has been chosen chairman.

The plan of having juvenile bands compete at the State Fair was initiated two years ago. It proved popular from the very beginning. It not only affords the bands composed of boys and girls, some of them exclusively boy personnel, and others having both boys and girls as members, the opportunity of competing for honors; it also gives the State Fair patrons the privilege of seeing and hearing the young musicians play.

Various communities will be represented by the juvenile bands at the 1937 State Fair and the spirit of rivalry promises to be keen.

"Judging by reports reaching our headquarters," Secretary-Manager W. R. Hirsch of the State Fair said, "there will be at least 30 juvenile bands in the band festival. We are pleased with the prospects. We consider this event of great benefit to juvenile band members due to the competitive spirit it stimulates and the privileges it provides for them."

NAVY RECRUITER TO VISIT MONROE

Gray, chief water tender, United States navy, will visit Monroe on September 21 and 22 for the purpose of accepting the applications of local young men between 17 and 25 years of age who meet the requirements and are interested in an enlistment in the navy. Chief Gray was born and reared in Louisiana, enlisted in the United States navy on June 19, 1923 at New Orleans and served continuously at sea until his assignment to the navy recruiting station, Shreveport, in February, 1937. During his time in the navy Gray has visited many places, all principal cities on both the east and west coasts of the United States, Panama, Cuba, Barbados, B. W. I., Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Guam, M. I., Hawaiian islands, American Samoa, New Zealand, Australia, Philippine islands, Korea, Japan, and all the sea-coast of China including a trip 600 miles up the Yangtze river to Hankow.

MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR HUNTS NEW INDUSTRIES

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 18.—(P)—Governor Hugh White is New York bound tonight, hopeful of persuading eastern industrialists to locate new factories in Mississippi.

Though the chief executive will attend the American Legion convention and watch the state's legion department march in first place in the parade, the governor emphasized that "some important conferences" Wednesday with corporation executives are his major concern.

The governor's departure left an unsettled situation at the statehouse. An expected session of the state land office problem was not affected.

A committee which has spent nine months investigating the land office was reported ready to make its final report to the governor, paving the way for a decision on whether the

Bored To Death

"Mother died of boredom," said a man the other day. "Actually she was bored to death."

Every now and then some person becomes so fed up with life that he extinguishes himself. Even persons who have riches and those who have fame and those who have both, find themselves so unsatisfied with the world that they resort to extreme lengths to relieve the tedium. It is drabness of life which as much as anything else tempts men and women of middle age into affairs of the so-called affections.

And right here a word about wild oats seems appropriate. More wild oats are sowed after forty by men and women than by flaming youth. Youth is impetuous and harum-scarum; it will play pranks and go in for frivolities and get itself into trouble, too; but for downright moral turpitude there is more of it later in life than earlier—though more sly. And the cause is boredom, an effort to relieve the monotony of having seen everything and of having known everything.

There is the story of the old backwoodsman of seventy-five, who, when told by an oculist that if he did not stop drinking moonshine liquor he would go entirely blind, replied as he reached for his hat, "Well, I reckon I've seen everything anyhow." He was bored with life and mountain moonshine relieved his boredom. Better, he decided, to be relieved of boredom than to have eyesight with boredom. And, as we have often seen, some persons feel it is better to be dead at once than to be bored to death.

And why are some persons so keen about life at ninety while others are so surfeited with it at nineteen or thirty or forty or sixty? It is all in the point of view. It is all in the objectives, or the lack of them.

With no objectives in life, what is the use of life? The honeybee works as long as she can accomplish anything, and then drops on the wing and dies. The cicada burrows around underground in grub form for seventeen years, then comes forth and does the only thing it can for its country—lays its eggs. Then, having achieved its objective, it sings cheerily in the treetops while it starves to death.

But with a human being, what reason has he to be bored so that he can no longer endure life? His opportunities are unlimited. They are all around him day and night as long as he is here. If he has fame, then he has great personal influence. There is glorious work to be done by everyone who has strong personal influence. If he is rich, he has not only personal influence but the power of money. How can anyone with the power of wealth at his command grumble about being bored when there is so much magnificent work he can do with that power? At every hand, at every hour opportunities fairly scream out at the person with wealth and beg him to seize them by the tail or the forelock, or any old way. They'll come along willingly enough.

And if one has neither fame nor riches there is always himself he can work on. There is an enormous amount of improving he needs to do to himself before he is fit to associate with the angels—or in most cases even with the best grade of human beings.

Bored to death because there is nothing to do? Ye gods!

DEFENDER OF DEMOCRACY

Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, founder and former president of the Czechoslovak republic, who is dead in Prague at the age of eighty-seven, was one of the few men of unquestioned greatness thrown to the surface of a troubled social order by the upheaval of the World war. He was as much the father of his country as Washington was the father of the United States, and he has a somewhat comparable claim upon immortality.

Dr. Masaryk combined in his own person and character most of the qualities of heart and of mind that go to make the ideal leader and ruler of men. The child of humble parents, he knew in an intimate way the yearnings and the needs of the poor. A profound student and a teacher of philosophy he brought to the complex problem of a heterogeneous people a thoughtful understanding and a tolerant, patient spirit. Practical, courageous and determined, he saw his goal clearly and struggled for its attainment with undiminished persistence, though the obstacles that arose in his path were numerous and difficult.

When the opportune moment came, accordingly, when there lay at his hand the material for a new nation in the chaos created by the World war, he was prepared mentally and spiritually for the fulfillment of his old dream.

Having founded the Czechoslovak republic, Dr. Masaryk was the logical and only choice as its first president. For eighteen years he was the arbiter of the destinies of this new republic, governing it wisely and with strength and reconciling the differences of majority and minority elements, developing a homogeneous whole. Surrounded by dictatorships and by the conflicting influences of Fascism and Communism, he succeeded in preserving a pure democracy, sufficiently strong and enlightened to hold its own in a troubled world.

Fewer people have died in bed since the drunken driver got behind the steering wheel.

If the meek inherit the earth, it probably won't be in Halle Selassie's time.

RHYME AND REASON

By ANNE CAMPBELL

A TROOPER READS HIS MAIL
He reads the papers, and alarmed
At pessimistic views,
Opens a letter to be charmed
By much more cheerful news!

"Your baby boy has gained since birth . . ."
He feels his eyes grow dim
To know that somewhere on this earth
One soul belongs to him.

"We lift him from his snowy bed,
And bathe him tenderly.
His soft hair curling on his head
Is beautiful to see.

"Already, though a baby boy,
He is a person too!
A roguish someone to enjoy
When all your work is through!"

He lays the letter down, and sends
His thoughts ahead to run
Through years when they will be fast friends—
He and his little son!

CCC NOT A HOTHOUSE

By BRUCE CATTON

America's lot in the depression was bad enough to suit the most discriminating pessimist, but along with the hard jolts came a few innovations which proved their value not only as emergency trouble-shooters but as semi-permanent projects as well.

One of these was the Civilian Conservation Corps. Its immediate service was to take thousands of boys off the highways, out of railway yards and slum districts, away from the evils of idleness and give them a job to do and a decent place to live.

Through all the pitfalls of changing government policies, through the criticism of skeptics, and the dangers of possible exploitation by militarists, the CCC was kept respectable. And it earned its place as probably the noblest of all the New Deal alphabetical agencies, both in purpose and in practical accomplishment.

For those reasons, citizens have a personal interest in a proposal made by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at their recent national convention.

A resolution "demanded" that the 300,000 youths now enrolled in the CCC be signed as a permanent corps and "be recognized as a complement to our national defense."

This plan, carried out to its logical conclusions, would mean, in the first place, that every boy seeking the advantages of the CCC as it stands today would have to admit the government's right to call him out for military duty in case of war.

It follows also that the duties which the CCC has performed so admirably thus far in conservation and community building projects would have to be curtailed to allow for the teaching of the basic principles of army practice.

And out of it all would come the inevitable growth of a junior military clique patterned after those now in vogue with the European dictatorships.

Of course, the CCC candidate himself would have to approve this plan before it could be put into successful operation, supposing, naturally, that enlistment would be voluntary.

But the blessing of the American public would be necessary, too. And it is extremely doubtful whether that blessing would be forthcoming. For one thing, the CCC was accepted as a depression emergency measure, and should be continued only as long as the emergency exists.

Opposition to this proposal and insistence on keeping the CCC on its present basis until it can be disbanded will prove that the nation is smart enough to know just how far to go with a good thing.

A BOOK REVIEW

THE BRIGHTER SIDE OF CHINESE LIFE

While the air is heavy with news of Chinese bombs, it is refreshing to read Carl Crow's account of some lighter and brighter sides of Chinese life—"400 Million Customers."

Mr. Crow has managed an American advertising agency in Shanghai for 25 years. His great good humor and tolerance make him an excellent person to describe the enigmatic, seemingly ingenuous yet often ingenious Chinese. He knows Chinese business men best—from office boy up—but as advertising touches upon many phases of living, a pretty well-rounded picture of life in Shanghai comes out in this series of entertaining experiences.

Ever since the days of Marco Polo, those millions of potential customers have lured foreign merchants. But many things make selling anything to the Chinese difficult. In the first place, they are unbelievably poor. Only about 10 per cent can read. Billboards convey picture messages, but one at least was suspected as a refuge for evil spirits and Mr. Crow had to set off $20 worth of fireworks on a lucky day to scare the devils away.

If you give free samples, the chances are you'll ruin the actual sale of your product, for either the newsboys clip the coupons and collect most of the samples to sell or the clerks themselves sell them. If you change a label on an established brand, the Chinese will no longer buy it. Even the illiterate can count the number of letters and he is sure to think you are cheating him into buying a substitute.

He suspects any effort at salesmanship. A salesman usually makes just one call a day—at the tea house frequented by dealers in his line. Here he stows his samples under the table where he sits to drink tea, nibble watermelon seeds, and gossip about the market with his cronies. The volume of his business depends on the number of friends he has.

Even if you are not interested in advertising, even if things oriental have no charm for you, you can get a lot of good hearty laughs out of Carl Crow's delightful book.—D. S. E.

THE MEDITERRANEAN

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

I stopped on upper Broadway the other evening to hear a man named O'Brien, self-styled King of the Hoboes, spread his gospel from a step-ladder. He had the gift of gab and held the crowd. Hoboes resent being called tramps. They take a pride in the significance of the name hobo, whatever it may mean. In other days any fellow who took to the road was just a tramp.

Jim Tully once chided me for referring to him as a hobo. He insisted both he and Jack Dempsey were what are known as "road kids." Well, anyway, O'Brien rambled on and then introduced "a speaker among speakers, a great thinker, a student and philosopher," and another hobo took the stand.

These two fellows, whose object may have been just to entertain and pick up a few nickels, undertook to make it clear they had nothing in common with the usual run of soap box gospellers. Their idea were solely those of the true hobo.

Somewhat, all of us are a bit attracted by the life of the hobo. The hoboes in the army nearly converted a large number to forsake the grind for the roving life when demobilized. Yet in the final analysis, the hoboes are like the Greenwich Villagers. They delight us immeasurably up to a certain point, and then we begin walking back.

The speakers pointed out the wisdom of simple food—potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage and the like. They laid most of our sins to the chemicals in fancy food. They said we suffer from a "stomach" philosophy. We live in fear of not getting enough to eat. We are burdened by the money idea. Faith and love, said one speaker, are all there is to existence—and maybe he had something there.

I doubt that the hobo idea has ever been adequately treated by the literary masters. The picture of the true hobo, leaving a little town and all its petty strifes and walking into the sunrise and toward points beyond the horizon is arresting indeed.

I speculated as to why the folk last night remained to listen. I imagine it was because the speakers offered them a moment's release from their own fears. Not one left until the end, although some looked a bit sheepish.

The lower East Side moves out to curb chairs of summer evenings. Fat a shower will drive them indoors. Fat, talkative, manas and silent, shirt-sleeved papa smoking pipes with a swarm of scampering children contentedly defying death in the street. Palm leaf fans are in full swing and the penny ice cream carts do a land-office business. Despite the hubbub there is a feeling of content. The young girls and their beaux seem to have a good time, too, promenadeing.

There is something of enormous content, too, about janitors and their wives who live in the basements of the boarded-up mansions and sit in the chairs by the servant entrances at dusk. They appear lost in a serenity far removed from the tenements that has gripped the world and made many of us open our morning newspapers with something of alarm.

Park and Fifth avenue are just as movie conscious as Third. The residents of the more fashionable streets may not rub elbows with hot polli at the big movie mosques on Broadway, but they pack the little cinema temples just off the aristocratic areas all afternoon and evening. And nowhere has the news reel theatre been so prosperous as on Madison avenue, fringing the Gold Coast.

Dr. P. Edward Swift, formerly of San Francisco, has just published the first Tahitian dictionary after many years in the South Seas. The influx of people from all the world to remain permanently in this area has increased rapidly during the past two years.

Billy Bryant, of the river show boats, had the most prosperous season in 10 this year. He has kept the shows just as they were 25 years or more ago, and this provides a sentimental tug that always fills his seats. Everybody likes to recapture the past and the young folk go just as a lark to giggle at the heroine and villain. Incidentally, Billy Bryant is a far better and livelier comedian and all around showman than many who have had their names hung in Broadway lights.

Jimmy Walker, getting back into political harness, found himself the target for renewed attacks that rather ruffled his attempted nonchalance. Not enough time, it seemed, elapsed for the people to forget the "tin box" and the vanishing personal agent. Sherman, with the $250,000 from their joint account. Walker tried airily to deny that he had thought of his lapsing $15,000 a year pension unless he was in the city employ, but the fact that the job came just two weeks before his time expired brought about many slightly contemptuous sniffs.

Also a sarcastic comment from Judge Samuel Seabury, who exposed much of the Walker stuff.

Guatemala will release four new airmail stamps on Nov. 1 in commemoration of the 15th anniversary of the signing of the U. S. Constitution. Previously, Venezuela, Honduras, Argentina and France had announced similar special issues.

Stamp collectors will not see the general reproduction of U. S. issues in black and white at least until another session of Congress, since the last session failed to pass the Hayden-Duffey bill legalizing such illustrations for use in catalogs, newspapers and magazines. The measure passed the Senate in the rush before adjournment but failed of House approval.

First day sale of the 10-cent souvenir sheet at Asheville, N. C., and at Washington totaled 2,290,954 stamps, or far in excess of the original order of 2,000,000. As a result the printing order has been increased to 5,000,000. Total first day sales aggregated $229,000.

Interesting non-technical book just out, of interest to philatelists, is "Lost Covers" (Random House, $2.). Written by Edna Turpin, this is the story of a Richmond family of Civil War days and the search for a valuable stamp issue. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein
(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine)

It is apparent that the one factor which seems to be certain in the cause of cancer is the repeated irritation of the skin or of the lining of the intestines by various agents.

One investigator proved that cancers could be caused to form on the skin of the rat by rubbing vigorously into the skin preparations of tar, soot, lubricating oils or various chemicals.

Various types of cancer associated with irritation have been discovered. Sometimes a cancer appears where a sharp tooth or ill-fitting set of dental plates continuously rubbed the cheek or tongue.

Cancer is frequently seen on the lip where a hot pipe stem regularly irritates the skin. Cancers also have been seen on the lips of people who smoke cigarettes which stick to the lip and are roughly pulled off.

The average persons thinks of a cancer as a horrible sore or a tremendous growth. That is because cancer is too frequently neglected until it has reached a serious stage. In the earliest stages, cancer is a tiny spot or just a little scaly place on the skin or on the lining of some internal organ. This earliest stage of cancer can be prevented, as far as we know, only through preventing the irritating factor that gives it a start.

Cancer of the lip and tongue, as has been mentioned, are most common among men. However, smoking among women has grown so much in the last 25 years that there is likely to be a change in this regard. Women first began smoking in considerable numbers around 1919. At that time we used in the United States around 10 billion cigarettes per year. Now we use about 145 billion cigarettes each year.

Cancer of the mouth is found most frequently among men who use tobacco to excess, who neglect their teeth and who wear badly fitted, rough dental accessories.

It is believed that thorough cleanliness of the mouth and teeth, the rejection of all dental defects and the avoidance of such irritations as have been mentioned will help to lower the incidence of cancer in the mouth.

CIRCULATION BIG AT TRI-PARISH LIBRARY

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 18.—(Special)—Expanding its services, the tri-parish library in Winn, Grant and Jackson reported a circulation of 10,029 books during August, an increase of nearly 4,000 over July.

It was revealed here today in the monthly report made public by the Louisiana library commission which is operating the tri-parish institution. A total of 4,481 borrowers have registered with the tri-parish library, first of its kind in the United States, it was revealed in the report of Miss Mary Harris, librarian. This number does not, however, represent the total number using the library, she explained, since one person often borrows books for several.

The library opened its sixteenth branch at Quitman in Jackson parish on August 21, the report continued, and this unit circulated 232 books during its first week of operation.

The books were distributed through the 16 branch libraries and by means of a bookmobile or library-on-wheels which goes weekly to each parish, distributing books at 26 isolated centers. From the bookmobile collection 1,169 volumes were issued to 344 persons, the library-on-wheels covering 1,008 miles during the month.

Adults read 8,446 books during the month and children 7,583, the report continued. Jackson parish led in the circulation of books, reporting 6,657 volumes read. Winn residents read 5,351 books and Grant reported a circulation of 4,021 volumes for the month.

London still has about 40,000 horses in use. There were about double this number a decade ago.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Willis Thornton

WASHINGTON—There is in the United States a certain publisher who sold 10,351,203 copies of his various publications during the past fiscal year, for $93,000. He has one best seller on his list that has sold 2,130,162 copies, another that has sold 1,735,066.

You'd think such a publisher would be quite a factor in the publishing field, wouldn't you? And you'd be right, too. It was the United States government printing office which sold the 10,000,000 copies. "Classroom Growth Record," and "Infant Care" were the best sellers.

Few people realize what a tremendous publishing business their government is running down here. Yet much less than 100 years ago the government's printing business was regarded as a private business—it was farmed out under bond to bidding private printers.

Will Get New Plant

Today, about 5,500 people work for the GPO, a fabulously efficient production machine that is about to get a new plant costing almost $6,000,000. It is a $20,000,000-a-year business, this printing and publishing plant, and some idea of the amount of work turned out can be had from these items listed in the current annual report:

A little matter of 7,000,000 copies of a baby book booklet for the treasury department.

Printing, punching and packaging (within a month's time) of 31,830,000 cards for the bureau of the census.

Printing, perforating, and pasting into sets 8,750,000 forms for the WPA.

Printing nearly two billion postal cards.

Printing $970,100 worth of the Congressional Record for the year. (This runs up to a million some years.)

Printing 17,000,000 copies of various documents for the agricultural department, and 27,000,000 more for the AAA. And another 8 1-2 millions for the FHA, and 9 1-2 millions for the treasury.

Produce The Words, Too

It would be hard to duplicate such a printing and publishing establishment in this country, or in the world. The GPO also manufactures a great many of its own supplies, like printers' rollers, and it produced in 1936 some 360,249 pounds of ink, furnishing hundreds of thousands of pounds of ink, paste, glue, and similar supplies to other government departments.

But the government's activities in the publishing field are not confined to mechanical reproductions of words. It is now producing the words, too. By September 1, at least 5,000,000 words, the product of the Federal Writers' project, were on their way to publication in about 30 volumes.

Within three months there will be 30 volumes, and when the whole project is carried through there will have been printed 20 million federally produced words.

If all of them are on a par with "Washington: City and Capitol," the guide to the federal city already issued, they will be of a very high standard indeed. This has already sold out a first edition of 8,000 copies. Ask any publisher how many books he prints a year that sell 8,000 copies of their first edition.

Salesroom Reveals Variety

Not all these books, you understand, will be actually printed by the government. Many of the local guidebooks written by WPA authors have local sponsorship, and well-known publishers have taken many of them for the actual printing.

The salesroom of the GPO reveals the variety of the government's publishing work, ranging all the way from paper folders to elaborately bound reproductions of treasures hidden among the federal records. Thus, in the publishing field, too, the government is daily occupying a more impressive position.

JONESBORO-HODGE HIGH SCHOOL OPENS

JONESBORO, La., Sept. 18.—(Special)—The Jonesboro-Hodge high school opened with an enrollment of more than 400 in the high school department alone. The opening exercises consisted of addresses and songs by the student body and citizens.

Rev. W. F. Roberts, pastor of the Jonesboro Methodist church, gave the invocation, and Rev. J. E. Hinkle, pastor of the Hodge Baptist church, gave an inspiring address to the student body.

W. H. McLauren, parish superintendent, then introduced V. L. Brumfield, the new principal for the year, and he in turn introduced A. Leonard Allen, congressman from the eighth Louisiana district, who gave an inspiring address based on his experience as a teacher and lawmaker.

The school is beginning this year under most favorable circumstances, and a high mark is expected to be reached in attendance.

The faculty for the high school this year consists of V. L. Brumfield, principal, Miss Julia Foster, Miss Hazle Shively, Miss Christine Sutton, J. M. Barr, H. E. Hearne, Leslie Cowley, W. L. Perkins, Miss Grace Walker, Miss Mary Elizabeth Abel, Miss Alice Griffin, Miss Coralee Saunders, C. E. Maroney and M. P. Kelley.

WARING TAKES POSITION WITH INVESTORS CONCERN

E. Graham Waring, who recently resigned his position as division freight and passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific in Monroe, has been appointed district manager of the Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis, Minn., with headquarters in this city. The appointment was made by Charles B. Carothers, of Memphis, Tenn., divisional manager of the Investors Syndicate, who has been in Monroe several days conferring with the local district manager, Mr. Waring was for more than 25 years associated with the Missouri Pacific, coming to Monroe from Oklahoma City four years ago to assume the duties of division freight and passenger agent.

ITALY GOLD TO NEW INVITATION TO JOIN PATROL

patrol to crush attackers of merchant shipping in the Mediterranean. Again Rome indicated refusal. The Fascist press printed defiance of the second Nyon conference decision to include "piratical" warships and airplanes along with submarines as targets for guns of the international fleet.

Official circles in Rome expressed bitter resentment over the offer which would permit Italian ships to patrol only the waters surrounding the Italian coast. They insisted that Italy was entitled to share equally with France and Great Britain in the Mediterranean "pirate" hunt.

The new order was regarded as the Nyon powers' last word unless Italy submits a definite proposal to join.

Officials in London were silent on reports that France and Britain had agreed to demand again the withdrawal of all foreign fighters in Spain. The implied threat was that if foreign volunteers were not withdrawn, the Franco-Spanish border would be opened.

French and British abandonment of the "hands off Spain" committee's naval patrol was interpreted as a prelude to this step.

Dr. Juan Negrin, Spanish government premier, dropped the question of Italian-German intervention in Spain into the hands of the League of Nations assembly. He charged that the Spanish civil war had become a war of invasion by Germany and Italy, friendly to Spanish insurgents.

Negrin demanded that the league take steps to stop the "invasion." Some quarters interpreted the new "anti-piracy" agreement and the end of the non-intervention naval patrol as a move likely to aid government Spain.

These sources pointed out that such a result would prolong the civil war.

Man Freed Of Stomach, Kidney Disorder By The New Herbal Remedy After All Else Had Failed In His Case.

my breath and my heart would palpitate. Foods soured in my stomach which I often spit up after eating. Constipation filled my system with poisons, kidneys were affected and a good night's sleep was impossible. I was tired and worn-out continually, felt sluggish and lacked the energy to get about at times. When I heard how so many people had received such remarkable results I decided to put Gly-Cas to the test and found it wonderful.

"I had thought my case was of such long duration I would never be in good health again—but Gly-Cas proved different," continued Mr. Montalbano. "My stomach and bowels were regulated almost at once, poisons eliminated from my system and my kidneys began to function properly. I now eat and sleep fine, freed of every ache and pain and get around with ease. It is easy to understand after taking this new remedy, why Gly-Cas receives so much praise—it deserves it all and more too."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Company, 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

stalemate and reduce the chances of eventual Italian-German domination in Spain.

DEFIANCE PRINTED BY FASCIST PRESS

ROME, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The controlled and authoritative Fascist press tonight printed defiance of Great Britain and France as the second Nyon agreement, to attack "pirate" surface warships and airplanes as well as submarines was submitted to Italy.

Italian authorities received an invitation to join the extended Nyon accord with pronounced coldness and reports that a considerable number of Italian volunteers had been newly enrolled for service with the insurgents in Spain.

The reports, coming from relatives and friends who spoke of the imminent departure of soldiers for Spain, were denied by officials—but with a smile. The officials adhered to earlier assertions that no men had been sent to Spain since the signing of the non-intervention agreement February 20.

Foreign correspondents were told by Italians that they or their relatives or friends had been asked within the last ten days to go to Spain. To check with officials on their reports would be to endanger the soldiers' relatives and friends.

The newspaper La Tribuna in Rome headlined the Nyon agreement to end the Mediterranean "pirate" hunt as "a Franco-British maneuver in favor of Valencia."

The newspaper Stampa of Turin said of the general European situation: "The possibility of a return to good sense diminishes. Anti-Fascist elements in London, Paris and Geneva do not disguise their joy."

LEAGUE FACED BY BITTER DIVISION

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The League of Nations assembly headed tonight toward a bitter division on charges of German and Italian "invasion" in Spain's civil war.

The Spanish government premier, Dr. Juan Negrin, set the stage for an open airing of the controversy. He termed Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Adolf Hitler "international highwaymen" and demanded that the league force an end to their "intervention" on behalf of Spanish insurgents.

His resolution asking that the question be submitted to the league political committee paved the way for bringing the controversy to the assembly floor.

There Italy and Germany, although not represented themselves, will keep in touch with delegates sympathetic to insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco. Government Spain is certain of Soviet backing.

Negrin placed before the assembly a five-point program which he asked the league to adopt. It demanded that the league recognize "German-Italian" aggression against the Spanish government; that it "examine a means of putting an end to this aggression"; that foreign volunteers be withdrawn from the Spanish conflict; and that the Spanish government have the right to acquire freely necessary war materials.

REBELS TELL OF NEW SUCCESSES

Several hundred dead were left behind.

East of Gijon another insurgent column pressed its advance and reported it was approaching Ribadesella, 32 miles from its goal. In heavy fighting on this front the government defenders lost 400 killed, the insurgents declared.

Government communiques in Madrid declared the insurgents had suffered heavy casualties in their drive on Gijon.

Aroused by frequent insurgent air raids on the Spanish town of Portbou, just across the frontier, the municipal council of French Cerbere resigned in protest against "inadequate defense" of their town.

The prefect of the department promised to demand immediately that the Paris government send a destroyer and establish an anti-aircraft battery at Cerbere. Portbou has been severely bombed on several occasions and the railway into France cut. Anti-aircraft fragments have fallen in Cerbere.

a soap box. The pay-off came in the third panel when he opened the box and began ballyhooing, not Karl Marx, but soap. The picture said, in effect, that it's news when a radical has anything to do with soap.

Gene Debs was a neat and fastidious radical, Johan Most, with a mattress beard, much less so. Thoreau was as tidy as could be. There were other Brock Farm radicals who were never more than a jump ahead of the board of health. Lenin took care of his person; many of his runners-up were notoriously frowzy. Sockless Jerry Simpson was no tailor's dummy, but his hell-raising contemporary, old "Blood-to-the-Bride-Reins" Waiter, governor of Colorado, was fussy about his dress and his daily bath. You never can tell.

BUT PSYCHOLOGISTS persist in the contention that a child's early home life and training, or lack of it, may determine his adult tendencies and attitudes. Even more than his school life, right now, the New York plan to organize a staff of visiting psychologists, to look into the home life of difficult or maladjusted children.

Continual nagging may warp a child's personality. That is probably where Dr. Kroust's thesis on face-scrubbing comes in. Of course, the savants are saying what intelligent parents always have known. But, no matter how much we incline to old-fashioned ideas, there is one thing to be said for the psychologists. Without exception, they insist that too much interference and supervision is bad for children; that the thing to do is to provide them a decent environment and leave them alone as much as possible; they agree that "the watched pot never boils."

That might go for government, too. As least Thomas Jefferson thought so. The possibility of a return to good sense diminishes. Anti-Fascist elements in London, Paris and Geneva do not disguise their joy."

"Radicalism may be symptomatic of bad social conditions, and hence a reflex of such home environment as Dr. Kroust describes in his report. Among normally adjusted persons, it may be a natural and predictable trend. There are always dissenters, always minorities in every civilization. But there are certain definite pathological aspects of the chronically rebellious temperament. They lie, I believe, in the effort of the man who has failed in life to find a justification for his failure and trying to make "society" a scapegoat.

"I have examined many radicals, some of them of high intelligence, who have been emotionally unstable. This unbalance is nearly always traceable to a man's inability to compete with smarter men in the life struggle. He finds in some utopian doctrine an elaborate justification and escape. I do not dismiss all non-conformity and dissent in this manner. I merely note what I believe to be the most definitely observable clinical aspect of radical trends.

"Modern education and social science have neglected training and discipline of the imagination and emotions. That may be more important than mind training. There, I believe, lies the next great scientific advance."

when an air bombardment begins the streets are not safe.

Shrapnel burst over the international settlement, bringing new terror to Americans and other foreigners. Shell fragments injured a number in the settlement and French concession.

Chinese bombs started raging fires among foreign warehouses in the Yangtzepoo district of the settlement. The new outbreak started when four Chinese planes dropped bombs on Japanese positions in the Yangtzepoo district and Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river. It followed a heavy Japanese artillery bombardment of the Markham road section in which Japanese shells crashed into the area near defense lines occupied by United States marines.

Japanese anti-aircraft shells fell dangerously close to the Augusta, and shell fragments struck some of the foreign men of war. The Augusta was holding a movie show on deck when the raids began. As shells started to fall nearby, sailors dashed below decks for safety.

One daring Chinese pilot dived to within 500 feet of the Japanese flagship Izumo and sprayed its decks with machine gun bullets. He escaped the hail of anti-aircraft fire which showered shrapnel over the international settlement.

Shanghai suffered a sharp setback in its attempted return to normalcy. The Cathay and Palace hotels, struck by bombs on "Bloody Saturday," August 14, were in the midst of reopening ceremonies as the air bombardment began.

When the throaty roar of bombing planes sounded through the hotel, and Japanese anti-aircraft guns responded, guests sought safety in remote rooms. A company of British firemen fighting a blaze started by Chinese bombs in the Yangtzepoo sector had a narrow escape when the bombers returned and dumped a new load of explosives.

The firemen hid beneath their engines and hurried back to the fire station as soon as the raiders left. South China officials reported that a Japanese destroyer bombarded forts at Hohow, on Hainan island, off China's southern coast, but did no damage.

Leather dressing was one of the most important trades among the ancient Egyptians and, at Thebes, in the days of Egypt's glory, a special quarter of the city was set apart for tanners.

There were other Legionnaires arriving on trains. There were Legionnaires coming in on boats. There were Legionnaires coming in on roller skates. He said he was from Wyoming, but wouldn't give his name, explaining:

"Ma's at home, and she might worry." The invasion began early this week, but the tumult and the shouting did not rise until Detroit's voiture of "40 and 8" crashed in from the New Jersey meadows last night. Up and down Seventh avenue the voiture roared, banging away with its boxer cannon and clanging its locomotive bells. Today another cannonading boxer showed up on Fifth avenue and with one blank cartridge shot broke up an anti-war picket line of youthful Communists.

Policemen were everywhere, in twos and threes and sometimes sixes, trying to bring order out of the confused traffic.

American flags, legion banners and bunting of red, white and blue fluttered from the facades of stores and office buildings.

Apprehensive merchants, here and there, tempered the gaiety of their welcome with protective wooden scaffolding around their shop windows.

Before Sunday dawn, legion officials estimated 50,000 visitors would be scrambling for the convention which ends Thursday. Before the official opening with Sunday night's memorial concert they expected another 350,000.

"One of the largest of these undertakings," the statement said, "will be the construction of the outfall canal through Wax lake and Wax bayou in St. Mary's parish, bids for which will soon be advertised." Another large project is the $30,000,000 appropriation for the Lake Charles ship channel to the Calcasieu river.

"Other waterway projects for which federal appropriations have been made are: improvement of navigation on the Pearl river to Bogalusa, $2,422,000; on the lower Teche, $154,000; on Bayou Grand Caillon, $36,000; on Petite Anse bayou, $45,738; Petite Anse canal to the gulf, $12,230; Pecan island-White lake canal, $19,000; Vinton waterway, $14,000.

"The second largest source of new construction in the state is that undertaken by new industrial enterprises which have signed 10-year tax exemption contracts. The contract signed recently with the Louisiana Steam Generating corporation at Baton Rouge for a $3,000,000 addition to its plant was the 41st of these contracts and brought the value of new factories coming into the state under the industrial program to the $30,000,000 mark."

The governor said his figures for private construction were based on data supplied by the state licensing board for general contractors which receives reports on all contracts above $10,000.

saying Endeavour's hull was built for speed in racing rather than to withstand the pounding of stormy seas. The racing rig of Endeavour, however, was cut down for the crossing, producing a more seaworthy ketch rig with two shorter masts.

By noon tomorrow the coast guard reported it would have completed covering the area north of the west-bound steamship crossing track across which it was believed the Endeavour might have been blown.

With fog and rain letting up, visibility for the search was improved, the coast guard cutter Cayuga reported, and she hit off a new section to explore 25 miles farther to sea.

CHAPTER I The stone posts at the entrance of the estate read: MARGIT AGNEW. They were perfect stone posts—rectangular, smooth and massive. Behind each one was a yew tree. The trees also were perfect—and identical. Probably both had the same number of leaves and branches—and if there was a ladybug on one, there was undoubtedly a ladybug on the other. Everything Margit Agnew owned was like that.

Behind the pillars and the trees was an immaculate driveway which led through the carefully arranged shadows to Miss Agnew's Long Island manor, a southern colonial house which shimmered in white impeccability upon a lawn that rolled more accurately than any marble.

It was April third, 1937, and precisely seven-thirty o'clock by naval observatory time.

Inside the mansion and around it, at that instant the regular events of Margit Agnew's daily life began in unison.

Margit's electric alarm clock tinkled politely and shut itself off. She opened a pair of gray-green and very intelligent eyes, pushed back a sheet of pale yellow crepe-de-chine, rotated 90 degrees in her bed, and found her mules without looking at the floor.

On a table at her bedside, neatly typed by her secretary, were memoranda concerning the duties to be performed before she left for her offices in the city. Margit glanced at them. She always allowed herself five minutes for that activity.

The notes were succinct: Speak to Angelo in re tulips. Check up with Paul on trade-in of sedan.

Waldo's year is up. Over the last item she pondered. Rene, her maid, shut off the bath which had been running in the adjacent room since 7:31. Margit frowned as she heard a pebbly splash. Why did Rene always put in the bath salts after the tub was full? Why couldn't she put them in before she started to run the water, so that they would dissolve during the process? People were so inefficient!

In the exquisite colonial house at 7:30 other things occurred. Angelo turned on the sprinklers over the hawthorn trees. Trucks Haul Most of Nation's Livestock

Considerably more than half of all the cattle, sheep and hogs received at the nation's 69 public stock yards are brought in by truck, latest figures issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture reveal.

The number of trucks unloading at terminal markets is estimated at 2,300,000. The picture above taken in the Chicago stock yards shows a type of unit which is popular among live stock haulers, a Ford V-8 tractor and trailer. Trucks make distant markets available and permit stockmen to take advantage of favorable price trends. The average length of haul is now about 135 miles.

Suggestions from owners are copied on cards, copies of which go to the general manager, general sales manager and chief engineer. Also, cards are made and filed for all purchasers of five or more Pontiac cars and cards are made for every owner who states that he has driven his car 50,000 miles or more.

"I believe that our Customer Relations department provides us with vital information from which we are able to form a definite idea of the extent of our owner acceptance, upon which the success of any car manufacturer depends in the long run," concluded Sales Manager Simpson.

NEW STUDEBAKERS ARE BEING SHOWN

Local Salesmen Return From South Bend Factory With New Models

Returning home from a trip through the Studebaker factory and a sales conference with the Studebaker executives, six men from the Central Auto company, local Studebaker dealer, arrived Friday driving new 1938 cars, which they will use to demonstrate the new line to the public. The cars will be displayed at the showrooms of Central Auto company, located at 310 North Third street.

A presentation of the new car is expected soon, according to F. N. "Stickey" Steele, the local Studebaker dealer, who described his trip to South Bend and the welcome he and his men received at the Studebaker plant.

"We enjoyed ourselves immensely," Mr. Steele said. "The program presented was one of the most interest-

"The cars were put through their paces at the 800-acre Studebaker proving ground," Mr. Steele continued, "demonstrating in every conceivable manner, the way Studebaker engineers test cars for performance, comfort and safety many months before the finished automobile is presented to the public."

Mr. Steele and his men were impressed most of all by "The Studebaker Cavalcade," a presentation of the history of the Studebaker corporation from the early beginning of the 85-year-old manufacturer to the present day, which included the announcement of important Studebaker activities for 1938. Unlike any other automobile history and fact presentation the "Cavalcade" was shown in musical revue fashion, a stage show and motion picture, which offered an entire afternoon of educational entertainment.

Enthusiasm rides high among all automobile dealers, the local auto motive map reports and the outlook for 1938 is more than promising. The 1938 Studebakers are offered in three lines: The President, the Commander, and the Six. Mr. Steele pointed out. The local Studebaker agent is planning a gala introduction of the new car and promises many pleasant surprises.

United Electric Service, Inc., Cooperates In Safety Drive

To minimize headlight glare in the eyes of forty million drivers and all pedestrians, the Automobile Manufacturers association have announced that its member companies are undertaking a comprehensive program to encourage proper use and maintenance of headlights, according to a statement made today by G. F. Becker, general manager of United Electric Service, Inc., 306 North Third street. The new program will supplement the extensive activities in the general field of highway safety.

"The automobile companies are mobilizing the support and collaboration of the industry's thousands of dealers and service stations," Mr. Becker pointed out. "In addition, the industry plans to make use of every available channel through which motorists can be impressed with the importance of proper use of modern headlighting systems to give relief from the glare and of regular maintenance to provide safer driving."

Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Automotive Safety foundation, in sponsoring the new program, declared that although in some states and cities conditions are better than in others—due to the creditable efforts of enforcement officials and safety organizations, taking the country as a whole, neither use nor maintenance of headlights is nearly so good as is desirable from a safety standpoint. Despite the finely engineered headlights with which cars are equipped, glare is causing unnecessary interference with vision because of failure to use this equipment properly, while neglect of maintenance is so reducing the efficiency of the headlights that many motorists are not getting nearly as much light on the road as they could have.

"United Electric Service, Inc., is heartily in accord with this safety program," Mr. Becker declared. "In order to provide our customers with the best service we have installed the most fully equipped headlight testing department in the state, all of our equipment having passed the requirements of every state in the country. We invite the automobile public to have their car headlight tested and adjusted in the interest of safe driving."

Trucks Haul Most of Nation's Livestock

Considerably more than half of all the cattle, sheep and hogs received at the nation's 69 public stock yards are brought in by truck, latest figures issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture reveal.

The number of trucks unloading at terminal markets is estimated at 2,300,000. The picture above taken in the Chicago stock yards shows a type of unit which is popular among live stock haulers, a Ford V-8 tractor and trailer. Trucks make distant markets available and permit stockmen to take advantage of favorable price trends. The average length of haul is now about 135 miles.

CENTER TO OPEN GRID SCHEDULE HERE FRIDAY

INDIANS TO MEET A. & M. AGGIES IN NIGHT CLASH

Tribe, In Good Shape, Will Seek To Avenge Defeat Of Last Year

The 1937 edition of the Northeast Center Indians will make their bow to fans of northeast Louisiana next Friday night when they meet the Monticello A. and M. Aggies of Monticello, Ark., in a game at Brown stadium.

Coach James Malone said last night that the Indians will have 25 working days on the gridiron behind them when the game opens, and that the entire squad, barring injuries this week, will be in excellent condition. The injury jinx is something that isn't worrying the coach, however, because he has plenty of reserve material.

The Aggies, hailing from a four-year school, hold a 6 to 0 victory over the Indians which the Arkansas team won last year. The Indians are determined to avenge the defeat.

"Bo" Sherman, coach of the Aggies, has a veteran team in hand this season, and it goes without saying that the Arkansas eleven will have plenty to say, in the form of action on the gridiron, as to whether or not the Indians will avenge the defeat of last year.

Coach Malone now has two teams which he classifies as alternate teams, rather than first and second teams. It's a toss up as to which team is the better. In addition, Malone has another team, composed of lighter material than the other two, but which makes up in speed what it lacks in weight.

The Indians next week will continue drills on blocking passes, as the Aggies reputedly have a strong aerial offense this year.

Four capable pass receivers are available for the Indians' attacks through the air. They are Troy Hendricks, "Red" Andrews, W. D. Jenkins and Leon Appar. Malone has not decided as to which two of them will start against the Aggies.

The Indian mentor also has not decided which of his three ace quarterbacks will start. The three signal barkers are Bob Keellogg, Aubrey Johnson and Charles Meeks. Like the two alternate teams in comparison with each other, each quarterback is about as good a bet as either of the other two.

Yesterday two new players joined the Indian squad. They are Prentice Duke, all-state high school end from Springfield (La.), and Kirby Wilson of Eossier City, brother of "Big Fats" and Roy Wilson, all-time stars of the L. S. U. gridiron teams. Each of the additions to the Indian squad arrived in good condition, as they have been in training to make up, somewhat, for their late arrival. Either of them may see service in Friday night's game.

The game will start at 8 o'clock.

NEWELLTON BEARS TO PLAY TALLULAH

NEWELLTON, La., Sept. 18.—(Special)—Fall weather finds the Newellton High Bears well advanced in their pre-season work for the coming grid season. Coaches Swanson and Boutwell took advantage of the cool spell to speed up workouts during the past week.

Long sessions in pass defense and offense were given the Bruins as they methodically went about preparing for the Tallulah Trojans, whom they tackle in their curtain raiser in Tallulah on October 1. After that, the Bruins meet St. Alloysius in Vicksburg, Rayville at Rayville, Delhi, Louisiana Training Institute, Lake Providence, Ferriday, Columbia, and Oak Grove. It's barely possible that a game will be added for next Friday.

Big Gerry White, the Bears' bone-crushing fullback, has looked good in practice sessions. His running, passing and kicking have marked him as one of the best potential backs to ever wear the maroon and white colors of the Bears. White will try to fill the shoes of Tap Pierce, the Bears' outstanding back of last season.

Neil Thomason, 165-pounder, was shifted from his end position to the backfield and in present combination of backs includes Charlie Eizer at quarter, Walt Smith and Thomason at the halves, with White in the fullback post. Ed Hawkins, 135-pound center, reported in shorts for light work this week. Hawkins is just recovering from injuries received in a motorcycle accident and will not see much service for two weeks.

PUGILISTIC 'WAR' ARISES OVER TWO NEW YORK CARDS

Legion Books Program Thursday; Garden Slates Show Same Night

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A pugilistic "world war" will be put on next Thursday night at the Polo Grounds while the American Legion is in town.

Notwithstanding opposition from the legion's own fistie party, an all-amateur show on the same night at the Madison Square Garden bowl, Promoter Mike Jacobs will produce his "carnival of champions" as the climax event of the outdoor boxing season in New York.

Three world championships will be at stake on the same evening for the first time in fistic history.

Sixto Escobar, Lou Ambers and Barney Ross, respective holders of the world bantamweight, lightweight and welterweight crowns, meet the challenges of Harry Jeffra of Baltimore, Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico and Cefero Garcia of the Philippines.

A fourth attraction involves Marcel Thil of France, holder of the European middleweight crown and claimant of the world title, versus Fred Apostoli of San Francisco. By official edict, however, this has been stripped of title significance. The recognized world 160-pound titleholder in this country is Freddie Steele of Tacoma, Wash.

All four bouts will be over the championship distance of 15 rounds.

There seems some mystery why Promoter Jacobs didn't avoid conflict with the prior-scheduled amateur show of the American Legion, which has the advantage of being free to legionnaires, whereas it will cost up to $16.50 to see the professional program in the Giants' ball park.

Despite the conflict, the carnival of champions is expected to draw a crowd of 30,000 and attract gross gate receipts of $250,000. The Jacobs box offices report an advance sale superior to that for the recent Louis-Farr heavyweight tilt, which grossed $265,000 in ticket sales.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Pairings were announced today for the American Legion's big amateur boxing program to be held Thursday night in Madison Square Garden's Long Island bowl.

Despite the fact that the show will be held on the same night as Mike Jacobs' carnival of champions at the Polo Grounds, sponsors of the amateur card predict a crowd of close to the bowl's capacity of 65,000.

The card will get under way at 6 p.m. central standard time.

The pairings, as announced by the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic union, included:

135 pounds—Ray Medlock, Little Rock, Ark. vs. William White, New York.

NO MAT PROGRAM HERE THIS WEEK

Stadium To Take 'Tweens Season Recess; Fall Premier Tuesday, Sept. 28

There will be no wrestling program at the Twin City stadium this week, due to the fact that the promoters have been unable to book wrestlers of satisfactory caliber, it was announced last night.

The announcement was in keeping with the statement made by the promoters several months ago when the stadium was taken over by new management. At that time it was announced that only the best programs possible would be held at the stadium.

Under the fall and winter schedules of wrestling which are now being arranged, the local promoters will be able to book the most entertaining performers on Tuesday night. Beginning on Tuesday, September 28, mat programs at the Twin City stadium therefore will be held on Tuesday nights.

While the general fall and winter schedules are being worked out, with the grapplers making known what sections of the country they desire to work in for the coming months, the Twin City stadium will take a brief recess. After that the local promoters plan to launch their fall wrestling premiere on Tuesday of next week, and to follow up this program with well balanced and highly interesting programs during the winter.

GRIDIRON BRIEFS

SCRUBS RIP L. S. U. TEAM
BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Scrubs tore through Louisiana State University's first team for long gains tonight under the stadium lights which will shine on the opening game of the season against Florida a week hence.

Coach Bernie Moore tore his hair and punctured his first team lineup with substitutes in a vain effort to strengthen his defense.

Tonight's practice was on the basis of a regulation game, including kick-off—the Tigers' toughest practice of the season.

MAROONS PLAY GAME
STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Maroons, called upon today for the first game scrimmage, battled through four 10-minute periods, but only the second string scored touchdowns.

Bernard Ward and Dennis Cross, regular halfbacks, were out with injuries. Jack Nix, sophomore back, retired after a few minutes of play because of an injury. Trainer Wendler said he did not consider it serious.

SEAWANE BLOCKING WEAK
SEAWANE, Tenn., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Although handicapped by injuries, the Seawane Tigers today were sent through a long scrimmage period with the yearlings.

Poor blocking stood out as the most apparent weak spot.

Sophomore Jimmy Thomas, who has been working with the first team, left the field today with a knee injury that probably will keep him on the sidelines for two weeks.

BULLDOGS VICTORS
ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Georgia's varsity Bulldogs defeated their Red Devil team mates, masquerading as Oglethorpe, 38 to 0, in a 40-minute game today.

The B men employed Oglethorpe's formations which Georgia will run against next week in the season's opener. Harry Stephens of Atlanta led the backfield attack, running wild to score three touchdowns and averaging 28 yards on nine runs. Count Vandiver, junior right half, showed up well.

PERSONNEL UNSETTLED
STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Sept. 18.—(AP)—The first game scrimmage of the State college football season left the question of personnel still unsettled because of the even terms on which men are battling for each position.

Colonel Ralph Sasse, after scrimmages Friday and Saturday, said coaches will not attempt to line up teams on a rating basis until the end of the season.

Thus far, the coaches have dealt largely with the attack. Next week, Colonel Sasse says, the men will concentrate on defense. Men who have been shining offensively may fall by the wayside when the heat of defense is turned on.

THOMAS DISAPPOINTED
TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Another "disappointing" scrimmage resulted when Coach Frank Thomas sent two varsity eleven against freshman teams in offensive work today. Only in passing did the Crimson Tide show anything approaching its expected strength.

Down field blocking appeared weak and Thomas said the running game was nothing "to brag about." Shoe-maker and Waites led in the pass catching, while Charlie Holm provided a bright spot with his hard running at fullback.

NEYLAND DIVIDES SQUADS
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Coach Bob Neyland divided his Tennessee squad into groups today for individual instruction in gridiron fundamentals.

The Vol mentor took charge of the backs and ends and sent them through long drill in passing. Babe Wood, Red Harp and George Catego, a sophomore, were doing the heaving with the remainder of the group on the receiving end.

Line Coach John Barnhill took his "mules" to another section of the field and put them through a brisk charging and blocking session.

PEARSON MAKES TOUCHDOWN
AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Gus Pearson, a third-string sophomore end, grabbed a fumble out of the air and ran 55 yards today to score a touchdown in a major Auburn scrimmage.

Billy Hitchcock got off several nice passes and Jimmie Fenton, his first-string halfback teammate, reeled off several pretty prints. Marion Walker called No. 1 team signals at quarterback.

Captain Lester Antley, center; Bo Russell and Fred Holman, tackles; and Ralph Sivell, guard, showed best in the line. Antley being particularly effective on pass defense.

GREENIES HUSTLING
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Tulane's Green Wave went through a stiff practice today, and Coach Lowell Dawson said the Greenies will step through another week of hustling preparation for the opener Saturday against Clemson.

Dawson said he has good first and second-string squads lined up, with a line sure to average nearly 200 pounds and trained to charge hard. Speedy but inexperienced reserve backs are ready. Dawson said the Wave will continue to depend on a strong running game for points.

VANDY LOOKS GOOD
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Their season's opener with Kentucky just one week off, the Commodores went through a brisk scrimmage today—the first one since last Monday.

Although the Vandy gridders looked good in today's drill, Coach Ray Morrison was heard to murmur something that sounded like:

"If we were playing a warm-up game, we wouldn't have much to worry about, but playing Kentucky is another thing. Although not rated as one of the favorites, they will be respected by Tennessee, Alabama and all the rest."

OHIO WINS 80 TO 0
ATHENS, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Ohio university, co-champion of the Buckeye conference last year, opened its 1937 football season today with a smashing 80 to 0 defeat of Rio Grande college of Manchester, O. A powerful running game and brilliant passing attack were combined to swamp the visiting eleven.

TWO PLAYERS HURT
ATLANTA, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Red Collins, blocking back, and Eddie Carmack, senior guard, were injured in a two hour scrimmage at Tech Flats today.

Collins was ordered under an X-ray machine to determine the extent of injuries to his side. Carmack twisted his ankle. Tom Allen, reserve end, displayed a good defensive game and a feature of the scrimmage was the placement kicking of Fletcher Sims who booted four in a row.

WALKER STILL WORRIED
UNIVERSITY, Miss., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Coach Ed Walker of Mississippi U's Rebels remained worried today about his line replacements, but admitted his backfield was looking "good" after three weeks of the toughest training in his seven years at the Red and Blue heels.

Walker was especially pleased with the work of Billy Mann, right halfback, and Kent Massengale, now playing second fiddle to Ray Hapes at the opposite half post.

The Red and Blue gridders went through another scrimmage today, the longest of the year, but will enjoy a day of rest tomorrow.

HOLDS 1-STROKE EDGE OVER FIELD WITH 142 TOTAL

'Picture Shot' Gives Mountaineer Margin; Horton Smith Second With 143

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 18.—(AP)—A "picture shot" on the 15th "hill hole" at Canterbury gave "Slammin' Sam" Snead, the mountaineer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., a one-stroke edge over the field at the half-way mark in the 35th annual Western Open golf championship today as he tacked a 74, two over par, to his 68 of yesterday for a 142 total.

Snead, whose clubs blew hot and cold all day, lost a strike to par on the hill hole.

Snead came out of it with a five, with a grand recovery from a three-foot ditch after his attempt to clear a clump of trees failed, the ball falling into the rock-strewn ravine.

The mountaineer, who had birdied the three previous holes, after a heartbreaking 39 on the first nine, chipped his ball safely to the fairway from the ditch, where his swing was hampered by a water pipe directly over the pellet, banged his fourth 10 feet from the stick and then canned it for the five.

On Snead's heels as the field of 68, composed of the 64 low scorers and ties, started the 36-hole stretch, was Horton Smith of Chicago, who turned in a 71 today for a 143 total. Smith's effort was the only one which bettered or matched par today, largely because of a heavy wind. Scores of 161 got into the finals.

Knotted at 145 were Ralph Guldahl, the defending Western Open and National Open champion, and Ky Laf-foon, the Cherokee Indian, both from Chicago, both turned in scores of 73 today, after matching par with 72 in the first round.

Paul Runyan from White Plains, N. Y., and Dick Metz of Chicago, making his first start since automobile accident injuries put him on the shelf last spring, were tied at 146.

Metz, tied for second at the end of the first round with a 70, two under par figures, soared to 76 today, while Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-Delaware, who had the other first round 70, skidded to 77 today with an eight on the 13th hole, where he ran into an unplayable lie.

Harry Cooper of Chicago, the pre-tourney favorite, slipped into a tie with Thomson at 147. "Lightning Harry" coming in with a 74 today, Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Tex., was the only other player to "break" 150, his 72-77-149 just squeezing into the select list.

Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., of Cincinnati, present Ohio amateur champion, led the simon pure contingent with 150, adding a 76 to his first round total of 74.

Snead, starting the day with a two-stroke edge, saw that margin fade away as he slipped three over par on the first nine. He three-putted the first green to lose a stroke, but made it up with a 20-footer for a duce on the third. He lost two with a six on the fourth hole and dropped another on five. The next four were played in par, giving him a 29.

VIDALIA, NATCHEZ OPEN SERIES TODAY
FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 18.—(Special)—Manager Mike Ohlsen's Vidalia Tigers will invade the wigwams of the rampaging Redskins of Natchez on Sunday afternoon for the first of a series of three contests to decide the issue of baseball supremacy in this section. The tilt will begin at 3:30 o'clock and the largest crowd to see a sporting event in the Adams county capital this season is due to attend the engagement, which promises to be hotly contested.

George Boutwell, the former Memphis, Tenn., Southern association right-hander, late of Lenoir, N. C., in the North Carolina league, has agreed to hurl for the Tigers, with Billy Priester of Ferriday catching.

The Indians will have either Lefty John Kenda of L. S. U. or Al Baker, home from Dallas, Tex., where he just finished the season with the Dallas Steers of the Texas league. Baker may have if the Indians need him, and Kenda may appear on first base, his regular position, when he is not on the pitching mound.

JOCKEY KILLED IN FALL
DETROIT, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Jockey Sydney Erwin was killed in a fall at the Detroit race track this afternoon. Erwin's neck was broken when Charley Dawn, the horse he was riding, fell over Busy Lutredia, another horse which had fallen.

MUNY QUALIFYING TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Qualifying rounds of the Municipal Golf club championship will close tonight.

Jimmie Harper, the defending champion, had posted the lowest qualifying score up to last night. His 73 was followed by the 78 turned in by Dr. R. T. Harberson and by H. T. Taylor. Other scores were A. B. Sherrod, 80; S. J. Reid and L. K. Turner, each 82; Eddie Fitzpatrick, 85; J. F. Bennett, 88; J. B. King, 89; and Eddie Shaughnessy, 90.

The winner of the club title will be awarded a trophy cup, and his name will be inscribed on the club cup on display at the clubhouse. Harper's name already appears on the cup. By winning the championship three years in a row, he would win the club cup for his permanent possession.

WATERPROOF TO PLAY MANGHAM

Class B Champions Of North Louisiana Prepare To Defend Title

WATERPROOF, La., Sept. 18.—(Special)—After three weeks of practice, the Waterproof High school Tigers swing into their final preparations this week before opening the season with Mangham High school here next Friday.

Head Coach Statham Crosby and his side, Leonard Montalban, have been pushing practice for the squad of 23 men particularly hard during the past few days, since the weather has turned a bit cooler. Daily workouts, lasting until after sundown, are beginning to show their effects as the Bengals gear up for preparing for the defense of their North Louisiana class B title this season.

Gone from the championship team of 1936 are Willie Bennette, all state quarterback, Parker Wiggins, Magrud Adams, Allman Marrow, backs; two ends in Lee and Walker; all vital cogs in the Waterproof machine that moved down every for last season with the exception of Vinton.

However, the Bengal coaches will have another fine team during this season, although not as good as in 1936. For one thing, the squad will be much lighter, averaging around 150 pounds. Speed and deception will replace power as the by-word of the Tiger attack.

The probable starting lineup for the opener is as follows: P. Stockstill and Red Rife, ends; G. Lee and Godfrey, tackles; J. Rife and L. Stockstill, guards; P. Crews, center; J. Walker, quarter; W. Walker and W. Crews, halves and Jimmy Abel, fullback. The heavyweight of the team is Red Rife at 170.

Capable reserves can be had from a group including Butts, Miller, Chennault, F. Stockstill, Taylor and Hooty Marrow.

Another body blow was dealt the title hopes of the Bengals when Doc Lancaster, a very promising guard, decided to pass up the grid game for this year. Lancaster showed every indication of developing into an all-state guard, but after a summer of baseball, decided to pass up football for the diamond.

Jimmy Walker and Jimmy Rife, both playing their first year in prep football, will be the key men of the Tigers. If Walker comes up to Crosby's expectations as a ball carrier, passer and punter, and if Rife continues to develop at guard and in the backfield where he will alternate, the Tigers will prove very tough indeed. The Stockstill brothers, Parnell and Louis, are the only two experienced linemen on the team.

Come what may, the Bengals will improve as the season wears on and if the team can get over a couple of early season hurdles, Waterproof may yet have something to say about the title it now holds.

Games on the schedule include Ferriday, Lake Providence, Grayson and Natchez.

A papyrus more than 33 centuries old mentions the camel as a beast of burden.

MAJOR BATTING RACES NEAR END

Gehring and Medwick Apparently Have Won Top Places In Leagues

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The major league batting races appeared today to be all but over.

From the looks of things in either league during the past week, it seems all that's necessary to make it official is to crown Charley Gehring, the strong silent man of the Tigers, in the American league, and Ducky Medwick, mauler of the Cardinals, in the National.

Although both lost ground during the seven-day span, Gehring, with a .384 average, held a 31 point bulge on his nearest American league rival, Lou Gehrig, today, while Medwick, with .375, sported a 21 point edge over the deadlocked second-place pair, Paul Waner of the Pirates and Gabby Harnett of the Cubs, in the National.

All members of this group found the going tough during the week. Gehring, although travelling at a .333 clip, dropped three points. Medwick, snapping partially out of his batting slump, with 13 hits in 39 chances, also lost three points. But considering that Gehrig and Harnett dropped 11 points each, and Waner, last week, there doesn't seem to be much to it any more.

Heaviest clubber among the leaders was Detroit's Gerry Walker. He raised himself from ninth to fourth in the American league by collecting 15-for-25 to boost his mark 12 points to .350. Dolph Camilli of the Phillies, hitting 13-for-29 climbed eight points to .341 in the National league race, coming up from ninth to sixth.

Standing of the top ten positions in each league:

THIS SEASON

Hart Schaffner & Marx takes the country to town this fall—and introduces a smart "loungey" type of clothing made up of typical country and sports cloths that are absolutely correct for every day wear. An idea that's a natural. And an instant hit.

For these rough-finished cloths tailor perfectly into the drape type of clothing so much in demand this year; they're ideal for the three-button coat (which has just come back into the picture) and the plainer type of sports coat—as well as for smart two-button models.

Best liked colors are browns and blue-grays. Patterns include herringbones and diagonal weaves. And the price is moderate. Look:

Although August construction was summarized by the F. W. Dodge publication, was 11 per cent under the previous year. The total for the year was an expansion of 4 per cent over the 1936 month. Almost all of the drop from July was attributed to a decrease in the automobile and public-financed work. A large part of the time it was not overlooked that the automobile contracts fell below the previous year for the corresponding month. The recovery period, for the first time, was a recovery period.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(P)—Advancing wheat prices here today reflected a moderate upturn at Liverpool. Need of rain in Argentina and a good trade in Russian wheat in the United Kingdom were factors.

September corn declined, but the market continued to act tight and trade was small.

Opening 1-2 to 3-4 higher, September 1.04, December 1.05 to 1.05 1/4. Wheat later showed little change. Corn started 3-4 higher to 1 1-4 lower, September 1 1/2 to 1 1/2, December 63 and later" was unsettled.

September corn felt to $1.04 3-4, as low as trading rules would permit today, and closed at that figure.

New crop corn contracts were unchanged to 3-8 lower, December 62 3-4 to 7-8 and May 63 1-4 to 3-8.

Wheat closed 1-2 to 3-4 lower, September 1.02 3-4, December 1.03 3-4 to 7-8, and oats were unchanged to 1-8 higher.

RICHARD ALLEN TO SPEAK HERE

National Red Cross Worker
Will Address Local Conference

Richard F. Allen, manager of the national Red Cross, eastern area, who will be the principal speaker at the regional conference here on September 24, first became associated with the Red Cross as member of its European commission, rendering relief to war-torn Europe.

He resigned his commission as first lieutenant of infantry, United States army, in April, 1919, and became director of the department of personnel of the American Red Cross in Europe with headquarters in Paris.

Mr. Allen's first task was demobilizing and sending back to the United States the thousands of men and women who had been engaged in war work for the Red Cross. The work completed, he was made assistant to the late Colonel Ernest P. Bicknell, then Red Cross deputy commissioner to Europe. Some months later, as commissioner to Poland, Mr. Allen directed the relief to Poland's war sufferers and to the host of Russian refugees then stranded in Poland.

In November, 1920, he was recalled to Paris and made deputy commissioner of the American Red Cross in Europe and in this position directed the liquidation of its activities in Europe. In recognition of his services Mr. Allen was decorated by the president of Poland, the king of Montenegro, the Polish Red Cross and the Russian Red Cross.

He resigned from the Red Cross upon completion of his duties in Paris in 1922 and spent the next 14 months in world travel. Upon returning to the United States, Mr. Allen became assistant to the president and later general manager and a member of the board of directors of the Rogers Peet company of New York. He resigned in 1931 and spent a year traveling and studying the economic and social problems of South American countries and the West Indies.

In the fall of 1932, Mr. Allen returned to the Red Cross as general administrative assistant in handling the conversion of 844,000 bales of cotton into clothing for the needy. At the completion of this assignment, December 1, 1933, he became manager of the eastern area of the American Red Cross and in this position is responsible for the development and promotion of Red Cross activities in the eastern half of the United States.

'LITTLE CHICAGO' POLITICIANS BUSY

Candidates Soliciting Votes
For Rousing Election
October 5*

Politicians are now thicker in "Little Chicago," phantom municipality east of Five Points, than Communists in Moscow. The annual campaign for municipal offices, which will end with a rousing election October 5, is now in full swing.

Although the remainder of Monroe is acknowledged only as a suburb by the residents of "Little Chicago," Joe Cascio, Acrotat candidate for commissioner of ditches and alleys, was soliciting votes Saturday in this subordinate territory. Not to be outdone, R. C. St. John, present commissioner and a Plutocrat, was tidying up "Little Chicago's" playground.

Meanwhile, Mayor Gus Kokinos, Super-plutocrat standard-bearer, was going about smiling at all the women, shaking hands with all the men and kissing all the babies in the municipality. He was doing this to counteract a handbill put out by one of his foes in his race for re-election, W. C. Holstein, an Acrotat. In the handbill, Holstein pictures himself as a bull; Mayor Kokinos as a goat and Jack Humble, the Plutocrat mayoralty candidate, as a jackass.

Four banners had been stretched across DeSiard street east of Five Points Saturday by four candidates for office—Kokinos and Humble and Allen Riter, Super-plutocrat chief of police, and one of his opponents, Bert Mahoney, a Plutocrat. Mahoney Saturday was accusing his party of double-crossing him by adopting an anti-woman suffrage platform. He said he was wholeheartedly in favor of women voting.

New banners have been hung in campaign headquarters at Eighth and DeSiard. The candidates they boast and the slogan they carry are:

Tony Danna, Plutocrat candidate for justice of the peace—"Justice and groceries for all."
Joe Cascio, Acrotat candidate for commissioner of ditches and alleys—"I will inflate your tires with air, not hot air. More votes, more mileage."

H. A. Gentry, Super-plutocrat candidate for justice of the peace—"No marriage fees. Everybody fined in my court."

Stanley Freeman, Super-plutocrat candidate for commissioner of ditches and alleys—"Economy in office, furnishing in the home."

The central committee of "Little Chicago" announced that there would be a monster parade the day preceding the election. The announcement said there were grave possibilities the procession would be of the torchlight variety.

With his eyes cocked on 1938, Tom Adams, who would like to be mayor, is acting as ambassador-at-large for all the candidates.

DON'T SCRATCH, SOOTHE THE IRRITATION

Quick relief from the maddening itch of eczema, psoriasis, poison ivy, and irritation about the rectum or personal parts is obtained by applying an ointment called Resinol. Leave it on over night. It lessens the desire to scratch, and eases the irritation.

The soothing effect of Resinol takes the sting out of the irritated parts and makes you comfortable. The skin heals sooner, too, with the help of Resinol.

The oily base of Resinol Ointment is ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action. Bathing the affected parts first with Resinol Soap hastens the effectiveness of Resinol Ointment. Try this treatment today.

Y.W.C.A. FINANCE DRIVE TO START

Plans Perfected By Monroe
Group For Beginning Campaign Tomorrow

The Monroe Young Women's Christian association, which will conduct a drive for finances starting tomorrow, has an interesting history. It had its inception in March, 1929, when members of a missionary society banded together to form such an organization.

The first executive committee comprised the late Mrs. Jessie Sadler, general chairman; Mrs. J. B. Pollard, campaign chairman; Mrs. Fagan Cox, publicity chairman; Mrs. C. E. Slagle, speakers chairman; and Mrs. B. P. Hardie, general activities chairman.

In October, 1929, plans were perfected for the organization, and Miss Jordana Flournoy, a prominent leader in the movement, acted as provisional chairman of the project. Through Mrs. W. L. Ethridge's efforts as chairman of the housing committee, the building at the corner of DeSiard and Grand street was obtained. The city agreed to furnish lights, and the telephone company, phones.

Early in January, 1930, 21 women were elected to the Young Women's Christian association board: Mrs. Palmer Hardie, Miss Jordana Flournoy, Mrs. J. L. Croft, Mrs. Fagan Cox, Dr. Irma Jones, Mrs. J. C. Sadler, Mrs. Louis Hullum, Mrs. J. B. Pollard, Mrs. Wharton Brown, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. D. C. Warner, Mrs. Alston Proffit, Mrs. Sam Collins, Mrs. Henry Colbert, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. E. R. Yancey, Mrs. B. Beasley, Mrs. M. Jarmon, Mrs. W. B. Clarke and Mrs. A. M. Willis.

The members elected the following officers: Mrs. Palmer Hardie, president; Mrs. J. B. Pollard, vice-president; Mrs. J. L. Croft, secretary; and Mrs. Alston Proffit, secretary. Miss Greta Smith, from the national headquarters, came here to aid.

The first residence secured for the girls' home was on Talamague street, but soon these quarters were outgrown and removal was made to 201 Washington street. In January of this year the home was removed to the present quarters at 904 Jackson street.

This home is large and ample for the present needs with spacious rooms, halls and porches.

Since it was organized the following women have served as presidents: Mrs. Palmer Hardie, Mrs. Fagan Cox, Mrs. W. B. Clarke, Mrs. E. C. Gibson and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale.

Mrs. Pollard served as the first general secretary from 1930 to 1934 when Mrs. Cox succeeded her. In January, 1937, Mrs. Julia Marie Arnold came from the Mississippi district at Jackson, Miss., to replace Mrs. Cox.

The matrons of the "Y" have been in their order of service the following: Mrs. Woolley, Miss Flournoy, Mrs. Sam Allen, Mrs. R. C. Allen and Mrs. M. H. Crow.

The "Y" in its seven and a half years of service has made a decided contribution to the city, it is stated by its friends who say that it exists to meet the needs of women and girls to whom it is doing a valuable community service, carrying out the purposes of all similar organizations in building up a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing

Hudson, stated that the preservation of the constitution is necessary to preserve the rights of the people.

Mr. Hudson outlined conditions in Europe and America immediately preceding the adoption of the constitution of the United States and showed that it was the outgrowth of existing conditions.

He cited Gladstone who said that the constitution was the greatest work ever accomplished of the kind.

The speaker cited many sidelights surrounding and entering into the adoption of the constitution and handled his subject in a scholarly manner.

Tom, Dick & Harry And Cheap Skate Petroleum Asphalt Roofs Go Hand In Hand

Petroleum asphalt ranges in price from $23 to $25 a ton. One brand being $25 a ton furnished by one roofing company, another roofing asphalt $32 a ton. Anchor brand asphalt F. O. B. Monroe carloads $44.80 a ton, less than car loads $56.80 a ton. I have been using petroleum asphalt in competition with some lumber yards and wholesale groceries, who pay no compensation insurance or social security tax on Tom, Dick or Harry.

The life of a petroleum built-up flat surface roof is approximately seven years and they have to be re-coated each two years. In comparison, composition shingles give about the same number of years' service. Some wholesale grocery stores do not guarantee roofs of composition shingles as to being waterproof. See Tom, Dick or Harry when the roof leaks. If you can find them.

There is a difference of $19.80 a ton between one brand asphalt and Anchor Brand asphalt. The roof on the Ouachita National Bank has given sixteen years' service—still going good. I guaranteed it for ten years—Not expensive at 7c a square foot. I trust you are not foolish enough to pay $1.00 each 100 square feet of roofing for a 20-year bond—unless you want to keep the bond in your safe and spread it over the roof when it leaks. This bond covers the flat surface of the roof only—and not where the roof joins the brick walls, the most important part of any flat surface roofing. I roofed a cotton warehouse in Tallulah, La. The owner being a lawyer, I presented a Barrett Specification bond to him. He asked me if I had any property in Monroe and would guarantee my work. He also tore the Barrett Bond up and threw it in the waste basket.

This roofing racket puts me in mind of twelve men on a jury. They were so long arriving at a verdict; finally, becoming hungry the sheriff ordered eleven suppers and one bale of hay on account of having one jackass on the jury. If you want roofing as cheap as hay I can apply it. On the other hand, if you want lasting roofs and waterproof roofs, their cost and quality are an open book to you. Invoices will tell the whole story. I want to be paid for labor and my practical experience. I am starting a roof Monday morning, September 20th, for my friend, J. G. Durrett and using Anchor Asphalt costing $56.80 a ton, L.C.L. This roof today is covered with sneeze and go naked petroleum asphalt costing $23.00 a ton—a new building and the roof leaks like a basket.

Competition is the life of trade. Let us have it—Dollar for Dollar, value received and to the hilt. I am not trying to bag all the roofing business, but I do want my customers to know what there is in the roofing bag of tricks.

Vacationists Still Returning As College Set Departs For Another Term

Miss Biedenharn Off For Opera Engagement

Group Of Young Girls Form Secret Society; Jane Dawkins Ready To Enter Mary Baldwin

Eve Bradford

AUTUMN stands impatient in the wings awaiting her cue to walk across the stage in her garments of orange, yellow, russet and crimson. The play is drawing to an end and the scenic artist has devised scenes of matchless beauty for the grand finale.

By whatever evidence the fall season is calculated—the equinox, the disappearance of straw hats, white shoes and crownless hats—there is no surer indication that summer is over than the flurry of vacationists arriving home in time for the opening of school.

Summer touring is all very well if you like crowded resorts, high temperatures and roads thick with traffic. But the autumn traveler is the one who really enjoys a vacation. There is an invigorating sparkle in the air and wherever the earth is farmed there is the promise of another year fulfilled, of laden orchards, full barns and harvested fields. If the flowers have perished, there is the glory of autumn for compensation. So, if for any reason, your summer trip was delayed you will find that there are plenty of reasons why the autumn trip may be more enjoyable than the summer one.

The Allan Sholars find the autumn season the ideal season for motoring. Today they are enjoying Indian summer along the coast of Maine, where preparations are already under way for the visit of Old Man Winter. The man who said "some of us call it autumn and some of us call it God," must have known the glory of autumn in the east.

If you keep up with Emmy Lou Biedenharn you will have to step high, wide and handsome. She crosses the tempestuous Atlantic as nonchalantly as most of us cross the sleepy Ouachita. Off on the Queen Mary for London this week to fulfill her operatic engagement with the Chanticleer Theater Opera company, with her return to Monroe an uncertainty at this time. We decided, while talking to Emmy Lou before her departure last week, that the most telling attribute of charm in a woman is that which flows from her lips—voice, words, expression. It is true, a woman's speech betrays her completely. A beautiful voice, good vocabulary and diction are more priceless possessions than beauty, more to be desired than any other personal expression. Why? Because a voice having resonance, depth, and quality shows depth of character. Beautiful diction shows self-cultivation and a sparkling vitality.

ity, joy in living and being. In short, that which emanates from the lips paints a clear picture of the quality that lies within. Speech ever is a woman's betrayer. Be she ever so lovely to look at, when she opens her mouth to speak, her personality, background, inner setting, stand unveiled. Emmu Lou's voice, low and musical and vital, was first cultivated at the School of the Spoken Word in Boston. Her greatest charm, perhaps, is her speaking voice. Of course her singing voice is in a class by itself—it is her speech that first attracts.

We spent a never-to-be-forgotten hour pouring over the antiques brought to America recently by Sam Rubin. He searched the old country for these priceless bits and proved their age and value with authentic information when questioned by the customs as to duty. There is no duty on jewelry dating back to the 80's. One gift in particular he brought back to a friend who collects firearms was a sterling silver heavily engraved French dueling pistol, dating back to the days of the French revolution.

Hearing of the remarkable strides made by Stanley Mintz, Jr., in scholastics, we wondered "how one small head could carry all he knew." Graduating from Neville High school at the age of 15, he is now off for Tulane university with an honorary scholarship. We are reminded also of the glowing valedictory address he made on the night of graduation. His future looms big with promise.

Secret societies are springing up like mushrooms but none quite as interesting as the one recently formed by six young and lovelies—Jeanne Graves, Carolyn Husted, Dottie White, Gay Noe, Adelaide Parker and Mary Livinia Inabnet. Known henceforth as the F. M. G.'s, they will share each other's joys and sorrows—they will stand shoulder to shoulder, fair weather or foul and will go places in bands. Last week was crowded with last minute affairs for Dottie, who will be the first to break the golden link when she departs for school in Virginia. Cuning bracelets, especially designed for the F. M. G.'s, are their badge of fellowship.

Jane Dawkins, homesome for her alma mater, is packing her duds in anticipation for a visit to Mary Baldwin college. Jane, the typical college girl, graduated too young. Her education should have taken longer, as she likes above everything else the life Mary Baldwin offers.

Ann Platt and her father, deeply rooted in the soil at Layton place, where the family lived for 30 years or more, left the old familiar scenes last week with bitter pangs. The family link was broken when Ann's mother passed and left the warm, happy environs of this life—only the two, Ann and her father, were left at home, and they decided to carry on in new fields. The old house tucked away in one corner of the Layton ante-bellum home, was too full of memories—the kind that bless and burn. It is best for both of them to start over again in a place not haunted with memories of other days.

Alice Cooper Weds George W. Files

A marriage which claims the interest of a wide circle of friends was that of Miss Alice Cooper and Mr. George W. Files, which was solemnized in Ruston on Saturday, September 11, 1937 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Baskerville, brother-in-law and sister of the groom. Rev. R. W. Vaughan officiated.

The ceremony was performed in the living room lavishly adorned with white gardenias and English ivy. Upon the ivy banked altar, which was outlined with heavy white satin cord, vases of gardenias were placed. Tall white candles gleamed on the altar. The bride was becomingly attired in a navy crepe dress with accessories in navy blue. Her hat with starched veil added charm.

For "something old and something borrowed," she carried a rare lace handkerchief carried by Mrs. Baskerville in her wedding. Her corsage of white roses gave a touch of distinction. Following the ceremony the license was signed on an antique walnut desk that had been in possession of the groom's great-grandfather for whom the groom was named.

A delicious wedding supper was served from a lace covered table which was perfect in all its appointments of Haviland china rose point crystal and silver. As a center decoration a handblown crystal epergne holding delicate sprays of gypsophelia in pastel shades was placed upon a rose mirror. Flanking the centerpiece were crystal candelabras holding pink and blue tapers. Immediately after the wedding supper the bride and groom left for an automobile trip to the Ozark mountains where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in Oak Ridge where they will reside in the future.

Mrs. Files is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cooper of Girard, and is a graduate of Tulane and M. College of Monticello, Ark. Mr. Files is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Files and is recognized as one of the promising young business men of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Grant are enjoying a two week's vacation at Cooper's Wells.

COLLINSTON BRIDE

Mrs. William Haden Griffon of Collinston, who before her marriage September 3, was Miss Lucille Clarkes of Mer Rouge.

Coffee Hour Enjoyed At Mrs. Young's Home

Hostess To Leave Soon For New Residence At Campti; 80 Or More Friends Call

Mrs. D. Crawford Young, one of Monroe's outstanding figures in literary, music and social circles, availed herself of the opportunity of bidding her friends good-bye during the coffee hour in her suburban home last week.

The departure of substantial citizens is always deeply regretted and especially so when they are identified with the business and cultural life of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Young and son, David, will leave next month for their new home in Campti, where Mr. Young will be engaged in the lumber business.

Mrs. Young placed flowers from her garden in the reception suite of her home and arranged a low plaque of gardenias and pink Radiance roses for the lace-covered coffee table. The silver urns, placed at either end of the table were presided over by Mrs. Travis Oliver, Jr., Mrs. Richard Berry, Mrs. Elliott Thompson, Mrs. A. J. McGinn and Mrs. Arthur Emerson. A variety of confections were served during the receiving hours.

Mrs. Young, wearing a smart black and white model, introduced several charming visitors in the city, Mrs. James McMahon, Mrs. Ruth A. Wright, Miss Dorothy Mae Lewis and a bride of recent date, Mrs. Thompson Clark.

Mrs. Young was assisted in the courtesies by Mrs. Charles Garretson and Mrs. Sydney Grubbs. Eighty or more friends called during the appointed hours.

Grant, Mrs. Ray Green, Mrs. James Cox, Miss Helen Grant, Mr. Edgar Hemphill, Mr. Frank Fisher and the hosts.

The first meeting of the Neville High school Parent-Teacher association will be held Monday afternoon at 3:45 p. m. in the Parent-Teacher room of the Neville High school.

An interesting program has been prepared for this occasion, featuring a talk by Dr. J. M. Nason, district director of curriculum study. Interest in curriculum study is increasing and many schools throughout the United States are adopting the new curriculum.

The program will be followed by a tea given in honor of the members of the faculty and the new members.

Meeting of V. F. W. auxiliary 7:30 o'clock, at club rooms on DeSiard street.

An all day school of instruction was held by the fifth district of the Parent-Teacher association Wednesday at the West Monroe Baptist church. About 75 leaders in parent-teacher work, representing 25 units took part in the meeting and topics covering every detail of the work found in the Parent-Teacher manual were discussed.

Mrs. C. L. Couch, fifth district director, presided during the session and discussed the purpose, structure and policies of the parent-teacher association.

"The purpose of the organization," stated Mrs. Couch, "is to secure for every child, the conditions which will make possible his best physical, mental, social and spiritual development. The Parent-Teacher association is the organization through which the parent-teacher movement expresses itself. Organization is necessary to deal with those problems with which the individual parent or the individual teacher working alone cannot cope."

Miss Myrtle Rodgers, sixth vice president of the state P. T. A., discussed the essential points of parliamentary procedure needed by clubs and associations. A parliamentary drill was also conducted, in which the members participated.

The topic discussed by Mrs. H. F. Burdeaux, president of Crosey P. T. A., was "Officers of the P. T. A." Mrs. Burdeaux said, "The attitude of a leader toward his group is of primary importance. He must use all the information he possesses and all his ability in order to appreciate the attitude of persons. He must merit the confidence of the group and develop a feeling of security and self confidence on the part of the members."

"He must be chosen for his ability to help others and to think cooperatively without dictating the results of their thinking. Parent-teacher projects and activities should be based upon the needs of the community and the members should ascertain the agencies and influences that are helpful or hurtful."

Mrs. R. L. McHenry, state publicity chairman, announced the resignation of Mrs. Albert Smith of Winnfield as state president. Mrs. Smith will be succeeded by Mrs. E. Fay Walter of Winnboro.

An intermission for lunch was held during the noon hour, when the delegates were served with a picnic lunch by the members of the Twin-Cities council of Parent-Teacher associations.

During the afternoon session, interesting discussions were led by Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, Miss Julia Wossman, and Mrs. King Hunt.

Mrs. Armstrong stressed the value of publications to the presidents of the units and the necessity of each leader having the "kit of tools" sent out by the state to each presiding officer. The material in each package includes pamphlets on programs, parliamentary procedure, safety, health, publicity, etc.

Miss Wossman discussed in an entertaining manner the importance of arranging programs that are interesting as well as instructive.

"It is well to use several types of programs," according to Miss Wossman. "The program in which an outside speaker is featured is a familiar type of program. Another form is the type in which the members are encouraged to take part in the discussions. The panel form of program is also a popular type, providing the speakers each limit their discussions."

Mrs. Hunt, president of the Twin Cities council of P. T. A., discussed ways and means of increasing membership and methods of keeping the members interested. Once a parent has become a member, he is always a member, she said.

A talk on publicity was made by the fifth district director of publicity, who discussed the technical points of obtaining the most effective publicity in the most effective manner.

Mrs. G. B. Wilson, state safety chairman, officiated as secretary during the school of instruction.

An invitation was extended to the organization to hold the next meeting, which will be held the latter part of October, in Bastrop. The invitation was given by Mrs. L. Volk.

Miss Sara Virginia Craig of Atlanta, attractive granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Hodges of this city, entered upon her freshman year at the University of Alabama. She was recently pledged Kappa Kappa Gamma and is making her home at the sorority house.

W. K. Olmstead and sister, Miss Marion Olmstead, left last week for Baton Rouge to resume their studies at L. S. U.

Mrs. W. R. Curley of Hastings, W. Va., is visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Salisbury.

Guilford McCreary has resumed his studies at S. M. U., Dallas, Tex.

Sororities Plunging Into Rushing Season

Delta Beta Sigma Alumni Group Organizes; L. S. U. Chapters Have Busy Week

The curious phenomenon known as the rushing season prevails on the campus of every American college these days. The participants go through training as strenuous as any track athlete in the springtime. The co-eds, in particular, make it a season of headaches and heart throbs.

Nowadays there are preference teas when the freshman girl goes to a party given by the sorority she thinks she would like to join. In the genteel yesterdays the timid newcomer waited anxiously for the summons. Oh, temporal!

Of course, if there had been preference teas in those days there probably wouldn't be a bid for the little lady at the rush luncheon who ate the lettuce on her salad plate. The dietitians think that is not good food for a blackbird. Also in the good old days, the groups who had famous sisters were inclined to capitalize on the fact. One let it be known that Mrs. Hoover was a member; another spoke gently of Mrs. Coolidge.

There are some who speak in disfavor of college sororities. Especially those whose college days bring sad memories because they were unable to make the grade. To be blackballed for no good reason at all is one of the most unpleasant experiences in the life of a college girl.

The Delta Beta Sigmas in this city take their sorority responsibilities quite seriously. Organized about ten years ago, it has been growing steadily and today claims a membership of one hundred or more. Recently the Delta Beta Sigma alumni met at the home of Miss Ellen Hale for a buffet supper and incidentally to elect officers for this year. They are: president, Miss Martha Olive Myatt; vice-president, Miss Eleanor Colbert; secretary, Miss Jane McKenzie; treasurer, Miss Libby Haynes; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Jane Terzia. The members forming the alumni association are: Misses Mary Hayward, Jane McKenzie, Jo McCook, Theodora Hart, Virginia Husted, Libby Haynes, Ellen Hale, Virginia Faulk, Virginia Earl Kersh, Margery Farmer, Jean Hale, Martha Olive Myatt, Eleanor Colbert.

At L. S. U. where so many Monroe girls find life the ideal life, the rushing season is now at fever pitch.

Kappa Delta's first tea at the Episcopal student center was the usual type with plenty of music. For the second tea, on Saturday at the French house, the Kappa Deltas wore their flower, the white rose, as a theme. All the members wore white evening gowns and the white theme was featured.

A "Gone with the Wind" tea was featured for the Alpha Delta Pi rushing. The girls all wore bouffant evening gowns and the old-fashioned southern note prevailed in every detail. Their second third tea on Monday will be distinctly collegiate.

Black invitations bearing the silver crest of Delta Zeta invited the rushees of this group to tea from 6 to 8 on Wednesday. Their second tea on Saturday was a "peasant" tea and the third tea, on Monday will be a pink one with the pink rose, the sorority flower, featured.

Chi Omega's rushing season started with a "French sidewalk cafe" party and continued with a "kitchen party" on Saturday. A white party, with all members in white, will be given on Monday.

The Alpha Chi Omegas donned pastel colored evening gowns for their first tea at Smith hall. The invitations featured rainbows, invitations to the second tea featured an olive green and scarlet, theme. Invitations were emblazoned with crests with ribbons in the chosen colors.

Beta Sigma Omicrons wore varied colored gowns to accentuate their tea theme at Smith hall. The second tea was "Hawaiian." All members wore flowered frocks. The tea on Monday will be English in accent with all members in street clothes.

Invitations picturing the three Deltas as they appear in the Tri-Delta sorority's recognition pins, were issued for the first tea. The tea on Monday will be formal.

The following invitations have just been issued: Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Wilbur Earle request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Catherine

Mr. Lesley Richardson on Sunday, October the third at nine-thirty o'clock in the morning First Methodist Church Rayville, Louisiana

Miss Mildred Beard left this weekend for Shreveport, where she will enter upon her duties as assistant teacher in department of Greek history and dramatic art at Saint Vincent's college.

Miss Breese Weds Bailey Grant; Winifred Maroney Marries Edward Shaver

Two Popular Couples United By Ceremonies

Grant-Breese Nuptials Take Place At First Methodist Church Thursday

Strains of Lohengrin trickled through the past week with two weddings, each characterized by charming simplicity, engaging the interest of friends.

A large concourse of friends attended the wedding on Thursday, September the sixteenth, of Miss Dorothy Breese and Mr. Bailey Grant, at the First Methodist church at six-thirty o'clock.

Roses of pronounced beauty banked the pulpit and overflowed from tall flower baskets encircling the chancel. Mrs. Henry Whitfield sang in splendid voice "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "Because," accompanied by Mrs. John Sholars, organist. Mrs. Sholars also rendered a nuptial concert while the guests were being seated.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. F. L. Jones, wore a handsome model of horizon blue velvet with a corsage of valley lilies and bride's roses. Long white kid gloves and a small black hat were worn.

The bride's attendant, Miss Helen Grant, wore a beautiful black velvet model with trimming of white. A corsage of sweetheart roses and valley lilies was worn.

Mr. Frank Breese served in the capacity of best man.

Following the ceremony, performed by Rev. W. C. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Grant left the city for a brief honeymoon.

When they return they will be at home in an apartment on Louisville avenue.

Mrs. Grant is the youngest daughter of Mr. Frank C. Breese of Vicksburg, Miss., formerly of this city, and the late Mrs. Dora Monteith Breese. The Monteith family, identified with the pioneer days in old Trenton, were prominently connected. Captain Houston Monteith, father of Mrs. Breese, was a colorful figure during the early steamboat days on the Ouachita and Mississippi. Mrs. Grant is a charming member of the younger set and a member of Delta Beta Sigma.

Mr. Grant is associated with the United Gas Public Service company. He is a member of Phi Kappa fraternity.

The wedding of Miss Winifred Maroney and Mr. Edward B. Shaver took place Friday evening at seven o'clock at the Presbyterian parsonage with the pastor, Rev. Ernest Holloway, officiating.

The bride wore a handsome black velvet model with starched, rose-point lace collar and cuffs. A black velvet off-the-face hat with shoulder length veil was worn with great distinction.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Conducts Meeting

Mrs. Lena M. Morrow, president of the Rodney J. Hobbs auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has received word from national headquarters that according to plans now being completed flags of each of the 48 states, the gift of the Ladies auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be incorporated in the permanent display at Bedloe's island, the site of the Statue of Liberty.

Ceremonies scheduled for Constitution day, at Bedloe's island, featured the presentation of the flags to the governors of the 48 states, or their official representatives. Formal invitations were sent by the V. F. W. auxiliary to each of the state heads, requesting their presence at the ceremonies to receive their respective state flags.

The flags are of regulation government wool bunting, painted and appliqued in the respective state designs and colors.

The project is along the lines of the patriotic and Americanism program conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary. Plans for the V. F. W. flag presentation were arranged by Mrs. Winifred D. Treasaint, Jersey City, N. J., Americanism chairman and past national president, in cooperation with Oswald E. Camp, superintendent of the Statue of Liberty, national parks department, department of the interior.

The Hobbs auxiliary will hold its regular meeting Thursday night at the club rooms on D-Siard street. This will be an important business meeting and members are urged to be present. Visitors are expected from the Bastrop and Raville auxiliaries. Following the conclusion of business sessions refreshments will be served and a social hour enjoyed.

A man who reads the social page daily was heard to exclaim recently that more men's news should appear on the woman's page. He said:

"Take the man who keeps 'house' while his wife goes on a vacation, for example. How is he going to know what to do with the house, the rugs, the flowers, the milk, the laundry, the lights, the food or—well, just how is he going to know what to do? This woman's page guides women; why not guide men for the duration of vacation?"

"The first thing he does is wave good-bye to the wife and then draw a deep breath of perfect contentment. He faces two weeks of uninterrupted 'bitching' and he's mighty glad to see it. Of course, he loves his wife, and all that sort of thing, but on the other hand he loves his leisure and his freedom, too. So he turns the key in the lock and enters his long castle. So far so good. He picks up the paper and reads it gratefully without interruption, dropping each page to the floor with reckless abandon. What a relief not to be reminded to keep things in order! Let the maid pick it up, she will be there in a couple of days.

"Then he realizes it is dinner time. He also decides that it is less expensive to eat at home. So he repairs to the kitchen and peers into the refrigerator. Feeling that cooking eggs and bacon is too much trouble he decides on soup and anything else that is handy. This occupies his mind until bedtime and then he is faced with the problem of windows. Heretofore, in some mysterious manner the curtains were pinned back out of the way, the windows were dropped from the top and tilted from the bottom, and the whole ventilating arrangement arranged to do just that—to ventilate. How it is all arranged he can't figure out. Perhaps he forgets to open the windows at all.

"And so comes the dawn. No breakfast, and because he overslept, no time to read the morning paper and prepare his food.

"That night he repeats the process, feeling that perhaps he isn't doing as good a job as the little woman did, but flattering himself that, all in all, he's doing a first-rate job. Who said housekeeping was heavy work?"

"The fourth day he looks at the flowers and finds them withered. The fourteenth day, just before wife comes home—he visits the florist and wonders if she will notice that the flowers from her own garden are missing. She was particularly fond of them, he remembers nervously.

"The point of all this comment is that when he needs help the most—just when the train has pulled out of town and the wifely emergency squad is far beyond reach—he can't find it. What good does it do to turn to the sports page to see what Bob Feller and the Dean boys are doing? How does that take care of meals and flowers? Why turn to the financial section for tips on how to prepare a 15-minute breakfast in three minutes?"

"What, summer bachelors need—and I speak from heartfelt experience—is a woman's page which takes the man's angle. A page that lists the baseball scores and then, sandwiched in between the sport chatter, produces an accusing bold-faced line which barks:

"Did you water the plants today?"

sort of things they buy and how much they pay for them, what they own, and the relationships with other people—employer and employee, rich man, poor man, doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief.

Two Brides-To-Be Honored At The Rhymes Plantation Home

Misses Burk And Earle Are Guests Of Honor

Mrs. Ivy C. Jordan Co-Hostess For Occasion; Bride Enjoyed By Guests

A charming interlude in last week's activities was Mrs. R. R. Rhymes' gracious hospitality at her plantation home on Boeuf river complimentary to Miss Cornelia Burk of Columbia and Miss Catherine Earle of Rayville, two charming brides-to-be.

Mrs. Ivy C. Jordan was co-hostess on this occasion and assisted Mrs. Rhymes in the courtesies extended in the flower-banked reception hall where tables were grouped for bridge.

The hostesses were handsome fall models with corsages of Talisman roses. Mrs. Thomas Burk and Mrs. C. W. Earle also offered courtesies.

The guests of honor were the central figures. Miss Earle wore one of her beautiful trousseau models of coronation blue and silver lame. Miss Burk wore a smart black and white, advanced fall model. They both wore the exquisite corsages presented them by their hostesses.

Miss Robertine Rhymes and Miss Marie Roark presided over the crystal punch bowl inbedded in a mound of roses and fern.

Following the bridge games, a delicious chicken salad and ice course was served at blue linen covered, silver and crystal appointed tables. Gateaux embossed in all the flowers colors were passed among the guests on silver platters. The Spode china, in the Rhymes family for generations, was used on this occasion. Crystal bubble bowls containing old-fashioned nosegays graced each table and later presented as table favors.

The table reserved for the guests of honor was beautifully appointed, with a miniature bride and bridegroom forming the central decor.

Gifts for high bride scores, beautifully wrapped, comprised a rock crystal tea bell and cigarette box and nest of trays. They were presented to Mrs. Harold Deloney and Mrs. Jack McKee.

Miss Earle received a gift of silver knives and forks and Miss Burk a set of silver butter spreaders in the patterns selected for their wedding silver.

The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. P. H. Earle, Mrs. Jack Geiger, Mrs. Gordon Roark, Miss Robertine Rhymes and Miss Marie Roark.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST
J. M. Alford, Pastor
The Gordon Avenue Methodist church will begin its program of work next Sunday with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., with E. K. Reeves, general superintendent, in charge. Both Epworth leagues will be held at 6:45, and interesting programs will be presented. The Women's Missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for program work. Mrs. R. J. Luckett, president, in charge. At the morning hour Sunday, 11 a.m., the pastor will preach on the subject, "Does God Want a Methodist Church at Gordon Avenue?" At the evening hour "If So Who Will He Use To Make This Church A Possibility." Regular prayer meeting, new Wednesday at 7:30, and at 8 p.m. the church board of Christian education will meet.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe
Rev. E. E. Huntsberry, Pastor
The pastor will preach at 10:50 a.m. on "Love the Supreme Gift." At the night service at 7:30 p.m., he will take for his theme "The New Order in Christ." Other services will be held at the regular service hours. Sunday it is planned to have a big day for this church which was established 17 years ago on September 20, 1920. In order to celebrate the anniversary in fitting manner, a homecoming day on Sunday has been decided upon and all members of the church at this time and for the past 17 years who can possibly attend are urged to make a special effort to be present at the Sunday services.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Oak and St. John
Crayton S. Brooks, Pastor
Sunday is "Homecoming day." We have tried to send a letter to each family in the church urging them to be present at all the services. The adults should attend Sunday school and all the children should join the old folks at both church services. Morning sermon, "The Power of Pentecost." Evening sermon, "Why Do the Disciples Exist?" What excuse is there for their being here? Were there not enough denominations before the restoration movement began? The pastor has been absent two Sundays. He will present both of these sermons.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont at Calapa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor
Sunday, September 26, is Rally day. The officials and teachers of the Sabbath school have plans under way that are certain to produce results. A program will be given, dealing with the work of the church. You are expected and a most cordial greeting awaits all. 400 people is the goal. If the adults of the congregation will only attend in large numbers the Lord God will be pleased, the leaders will be encouraged, and the lessons of the day will reach the largest possible number. "The New Law of Jesus Christ" and "Enoch's Translation of the Striking Effect of Faith," are the sermon subjects. The first message deals with the command of Jesus given to His followers after the betrayer had departed on his nefarious mission. The second message with one of scripture's most unusual human experiences. These discussions are offered to the end that all worshippers may sense the import of love and the potency of faith. The mission of the church is spiritual. This being true, every phase of our worship program seeks to minister to the soul, seeking its salvation, its development, its response to the call of the Holy Ghost and the manifestation of Christly characteristics. Will you, therefore, worship with us that we may worship our God, who is a spirit, in spirit and in truth?

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth and Glemarr Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector
Sunday is the seventeenth after Trinity Sunday, and Tuesday is the Festival of St. Matthew, Apostle and Evangelist. The hours for service on Sunday are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m., the church school will hold its first session for the fall and autumn term at 9:30 a.m., and a second celebration of the Holy Eucharist (choral) and sermon by the rector at 10:45 a.m. Note the time of the late service. Instead of 11 a.m., the service starts at 10:45 o'clock. Evensong will be said and sermon preached at St. David's, Rayville, at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday being the Festival of St. Matthew, the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m.

Edward Everett Hale offers a guiding principle of life worthy of serious thought. He says: "I am only one, but I am one. I cannot do everything, but I can do something. And I will not let what I cannot do interfere with what I can do." Let's make this our individual motto and by regular church attendance, earnest prayer and financial support do our utmost to lift up Christ to a dying world. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. "Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate."

CHURCH OF CHRIST

At 10:30 all will assemble on the second floor of the education building and Dr. Kramer will speak to the Sunday school, beginners and primaries expected. We can match last Sunday's record if we try hard enough. Dr. Kramer will speak at 11 o'clock on "The City Beautiful" at 7:30 p.m., on "Your Verdict—For or Against Jesus." You will have to come early to get a good seat. We expect the largest crowds ever seen at the First Baptist church. At 2:30 p.m., the pastor and deacons will meet all those who are to be baptized. "Matter" is the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 19. Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson is the following from the Bible: "In the Lord shall all the seeds of Israel be justified, and shall glory" (Isa. 45). The lesson-lesson also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Is Spirit the source or creator of matter? Science reveals nothing in Spirit out of which to create matter. Divine metaphysics explains away matter" (Page 276).

Shene goes a-Shopping

Being a chronicle of the things she saw and the things she bought on a shopping tour with the merchants of the Twin Cities yesterday.

THE VERY atmosphere at MANGEL'S is invigorating... especially when the capable clerks show you the new things for the season that have suddenly rushed upon us... You feel the first real thrill of fall when you see the shipment of smart man-tailored suits at Mangel's tomorrow. There are oxfords, greys, navies, blacks, browns, greens and various mixtures. Materials are of smooth worsteds and I was told that they were made by a man tailor... making them as smart and form-fitting as a man's suit. Priced at $9.95 to $14.95. New fall blouses at $1.00 and $1.98... Beautiful skirts of wool... colorful plaids and solids with convenient - fastenings at $1.98... Beautiful coats... plain and for trim... priced from $9.95 to $16.95. By all means, girls, go to Mangel's... If not convenient to buy your fall outfit tomorrow... select it and "LAY IT AWAY" THE MANGEL WAY.

THE TALK of the town is DURRETT'S... and I don't wonder... A visit to The Williamsburg Galleries... the charm and culture of old Williamsburg is the inspiration for today's decorative trend... See the eleven room setting on Durrett's third floor (completely air-conditioned)... embodying the true Colonial atmosphere hostesses of Williamsburg knew in their pre-Revolutionary days. Give yourself a restful, enjoyable hour to visit The Williamsburg Galleries at Durrett's, one seventeen St. John street in Monroe.

GRIFFIN'S STUDIO is ready to make the photograph of your baby this week. Dress the little white in summer wear... If you can't get to the studio, take him to Griffin's or call No. 6 and Griffin will send their baby photographer to your home. Griffin's work is the very finest quality and the cost is in line with any other photographer's of the same quality. It is remarkable how Griffin's can get those little folks in such a natural pose. Don't put it off any longer... while the weather permits... have this photographing done. Next summer they'll be really grown-up you know.

HAVEN'T YOU just loved the cool days and nights we have had lately?... so invigorating... give you a feeling you must get out the "long ones"... which reminds me that the Monroe Steam Laundry will be so rushed soon getting our last season's clothes ready for the cold weather... that we will almost have to wait our turn to be served if we don't hurry! The time to get that winter cleaning out is MONDAY MORNING. Call 103... their courteous service men are ready to call at a moment's notice... Your coats, dresses, suits, blouses, quilts, drapes, etc. Don't neglect father and son... We "wimmin'" folks must look after the men in our family you know."

HAVEN'T YOU noticed many smartly suited women on the street lately?... chances are... she has had her suit tailored at FINK'S... Somehow a FINK suit (man-tailored because they employ only men tailors for this work)... seems to stand out for style, fit and individuality more than an ordinary suit that is bought ready-made. Fink is ready now to take your measurements... and the nice part of having FINK tailor your suit is that you can go back and forth for fittings... If you prefer... thereby knowing that your suit is made for YOU... to conform to YOUR figure. Don't wait another week to have your suit made at FINK'S... Really, it's the smart thing to do.

I HAVE FOR YOU something new and very delicious... that I found at Jitney Jungle Bakery on North Fourth street... The "Hollywood Roll"... A sweet roll not a cake made as you would an up-side-down cake... filled with raisins, pecan meats and cherries and topped off with a mixture of honey and butter. The school kiddies will go for these in a big way... 2 for 5c. The original Bettye Crocker angel food cake... two all know Bettye... these cakes are baked in two sizes and can be had iced or uniced. For those of you who entertain with a spaghetti supper, barbeque or special luncheon... Jitney Jungle bakes a special bun... that tastes like a real home-baked hot roll but made in the shape of a small bun, 12 dozen. This bakery is kept busy filling special orders for just such dinners and luncheons. A new shipment of the famous "VIEUX CARRE" CRAWFISH BISQUE prepared and packed in the far south has just been received in the North Fourth street Jitney Jungle store at 29c. Also a shipment of saucers from Havana, Cuba... includes plenty of that good Goya jelly. Oh, there are so many new things each week at this interesting store... Drop by—browse around and look.

THE NEW FALL costumes call for at least three each of the new hand-made HAND-KERCHIEFS I saw at YORK'S this week... Simply exquisite is the only way to describe them. Frankly, I have shopped in a number of the shops but I found the most collection of hand-made "editorial" handkerchiefs at York's and priced from 10c to $2.50 each. They are receiving their new every day... which is your assurance that the "hand across the table" thing thing the same sort of "hand" as yours. Why not give the new bride a set of those lovely Madeline type handkerchiefs that YORK'S carried this week. Handkerchiefs embroidered... beautifully finished by those gifted South Sea Islanders and sell for only the 50c. Since the cool days are here... you'll be inviting friends in for a wifely supper... spaghetti supper or a barbeque dinner... which reminds me you'll need one of those new colorful appliqued handkerchiefs. Jitney Jungle has individual service for a consisting of 12 pieces at only $2.95 to $6.95. York keeps up with the new things that are important details in our lives... 250 DeSard street.

HOLD EVERYTHING... You folks that are thinking of decorating... Sherwin-Williams has a brand new plan for you that will practically make decorators of us all. Beginning this week Sherwin-Williams will feature "ROOM OF THE WEEK"... A breakfast room one week... a living room the next... a bedroom the next... and so on... The very best decorators of the country have contributed their ideas and they have been boiled down into a simple, easy decorating plan and given to the public by Sherwin-Williams. A special display room will be arranged each week and their first feature will begin this week. Get in touch with this firm tomorrow... Learn without cost or obligation just how to decorate your own rooms... and for once... help yourself to "YOUR OWN IDEAS" with the help of SHERWIN-WILLIAMS. Located 109 Calapa street.

REST ROOMS FOR MODERNIZATION

Important Feature For All Stores And Buildings Where People Meet

What should be an important feature of all stores of any size is the rest-room facilities provided. Too often new fronts, new store fixtures, new lighting effects, new decorations are installed, and the rest rooms are left in a dingy cellar or badly ventilated interior space. The large oil companies have realized the commercial value of catering to the comfort of their customers and vie with one another in providing clean, sanitary, well-ventilated rooms. Except in large department stores, this matter is quite neglected by other retail merchants.

The good will generated by attention to the comfort of the customers will more than repay the expenditure necessary to renovate and completely reequip the rest rooms of a store or to install such rooms where none now exist. Funds for this purpose may be obtained under the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration. Any financial institution which holds a contract of insurance with the Housing Administration will advance the money.

RESTORING OLD HOUSES

In many parts of the country, there are fine old houses in need of repair and restoration.

Instead of tearing out the whole stair railing which is broken in places, repair it so that the house will retain its original decorative features.

Paneled doors, fireplaces, cupboards and many of the interesting features in historic houses should be carefully restored.

It is wise to call in an architect. He will be careful to keep the spirit of the early work and will make all necessary new additions harmonize with this.

Smart Sales Appeal

Specialty shop owners have at their disposal today a wide variety of materials and equipment with which to modernize their sales rooms. Simplicity and refinement are the keynote of modern shop interiors as is illustrated above. Striking built-in display shelves, stained wood paneling, linoleum or other composition flooring, concealed indirect lighting and countless other effects are possible in the up-to-date specialty shop. Numbers of shop owners have realized increased profits through modernization under the terms of the Federal Housing Administration's Modernization Credit Plan. Details are available at any Federal Housing Administration office.

PORCH REMOVAL TREND IN NEW MODERNIZATION

The trend in present-day exterior modernization projects generally includes the elimination of the front porch. Up-to-date homes consider privacy a keynote. With this in mind, numerous home owners have added additional living space and effectively improved the outer appearance of their homes by enclosing such porches. Entrance is gained generally through a small entrance hall. The enclosed front porch makes an ideal living room both for winter and summer and makes it possible to utilize interior space more effectively. It can often be used to enlarge the living room by combining them. Attractive broadshingle may replace weather boarding. The roof treatment may be simplified, and the addition of wrought-iron railings on entrance stairs adds additional charm. Inclusion of a decorative entrance door also strikes a new note. Such projects are well within the limitations of the Federal Housing Administration's modernization credit plan. For full particulars consult any Federal Housing Administration insuring office or the Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C.

PLACE FOR EVERYTHING IN THE MODERN CLOSET

The old-fashioned "closet under the stairs"—that catch-all for umbrellas, extra coats, hats, and wraps; that dark limbo of lost articles—has been modernized at last. Built-in racks now hold outdoor clothing; ample shelving takes care of tennis rackets, etc. Golf clubs stand in a special fenced-in nook of their own, a special compartment holds rubbers, etc. Order obviates dust and keeps the place tidy. Painted walls and varnished floors makes cleanliness simple to maintain. Through improved conditions everything is in its place and readily found, especially with the convenient electric light within reach as the door is opened.

AIR-COOLING IS SANITARY METHOD

Not Only Comfortable, But Lends Purer Conditions To Modern Home

The modern craze for air conditioning is more than just a fad. Perhaps its importance and benefits have been exaggerated in some directions, but in some respects its advantages have been only partially appreciated. For example, for its use in stores only the comfort of the customers has been emphasized, and even that has been more or less confined to the summer cooling phase of air-conditioning.

But this is probably its least important benefit. The all-year-round cleaning of the air reduces the dust that is stirred up by the moving of the customers' feet upon the floors and, consequently, spares the stock the necessity of catching it all as it settles; the removal of the soot effect of bad air upon the employees by the purification and humidification of the air in winter increases their efficiency and hence their sales.

The same is true of the customers; stale air quickly dulls their enthusiasm and sends them out to get a breath of out-doors before they have finished the shopping they had planned. Great crowds of people in close contact quickly use up the oxygen in the air, and the bad air, being heavier than the good, forms in a layer near the floor and reacts upon those breathing it. Hence the necessity of drawing it off and replacing it with pure air.

It is probable that the store without air conditioning will be as much a curiosity in a few years as is the one today with a large pot stove in the center for heating.

KITCHEN OFFICE FOR HOUSEWIVES NEW MODE

A convenient and attractive work center may be added to the kitchen, and the housewife will find it easier to organize her household if all the recipes, bills, statements, account books, etc., are properly filed there.

A desk can be built in at some point where it will receive adequate light and air. A small filing cabinet can either be purchased separately and attached to the desk or drawers and pigeonholes made of the same material as the desk.

A book-shelf for cook books or other books which the housewife may be reading while she is watching something cook can be placed in the lower part of the desk or hung against the wall above it. A pencil sharpener can be attached to a convenient shelf, and the 'phone and 'phone books suitably located. A clock on the desk or an attractive kitchen wall clock can harmonize with the colors chosen for the desk.

A bench or chair should be designed to match the desk.

Cool colors are preferable for both walls and cabinets in the kitchen, but the furniture may be painted in bright contrasting tones. Warm yellows are often used for kitchen accessories.

ATTIC REPAIR FOUND HELP TO HOUSEWIFE

Hundreds of homes throughout the nation constructed during the last two decades include attic space. Since the inception of the Federal Housing Administration's modernization credit plan many property owners have realized the advantages to be derived from modernizing such space.

A spacious recreation room may be created through the intelligent use of any of a number of wall and floor coverings now available on the market. Attics may also be transformed into "extra bedrooms," which are found to be very convenient and useful in the average home. Such projects need not run into large sums of money. Careful planning and an appropriate use of materials will create many novel, attractive effects. Funds with which to modernize attic space are readily obtainable from private financial institutions operating under the national housing act. These insured loans may be repaid on terms up to five years. Full particulars concerning attic modernization projects may be obtained from any Federal Housing Administration insuring office or directly from the Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C.

ENTRY COAT CLOSET

During the winter considerable space is needed for hanging heavy coats, and for galoshes, umbrellas, etc. An adequate closet built into the entry will be found very useful.

A shelf for hats and a waterproof floor for rubbers should be provided. A container for umbrellas may be built in.

It is a good idea to use a waterproof paint on the walls.

The Federal Housing Administration insures private financial institutions making loans for work of this kind.

LAUNDRY PLANNING SAVES TIME, LABOR

A laundry systematically planned saves labor as well as time. Ample cabinet space for the storing of soap, starch, and other materials necessary for successful laundry work gives the room a neat appearance.

A floor that is readily cleaned and drained is essential. Tubs, mangles, and stoves kept in good order expedite work. Well-planned window arrangements, with sunlight if possible, make the laundry a pleasant and properly ventilated workroom. Adequate artificial light is important, as is a sufficiency of outlets for the use of necessary electric equipment.

If a special shelf or other compartment is arranged to hold clothes to be mended, and sewing materials readily accessible for the restoring of missing buttons, etc., the inevitable "stitch in time may save nine."

EXTRA BEDROOM

If there were as much waste space on the other floors of your home as there is in the cellar and attic, you would immediately take steps to utilize some of it. This space is neglected because it is comparatively out of sight, yet it is none the less valuable. At surprisingly small cost, by taking advantage of the Federal Housing program, you can convert your unused attic—or half of it—into an extra bedroom. The basement, which is a place to keep the furnace but is really a dozen times too large for it, will yield in most cases more than enough space for a recreation room, where children and grown-ups can pass many a pleasant hour.

THREE-WAY SWITCHES SAVE MANY HOUSEWIVES

Three-way switches save steps when used to control garage illumination. Switches at the house and the garage can be installed to control garage lights from either point.

These switches are particularly appropriate if the garage is at some distance from the house. Then it is also a good idea to install low lights along the walk to the garage which can be turned on at the same time as the main light.

STORAGE CLOSET

A fire-proof, well-ventilated, cleaning-equipment storage closet should be added in the kitchen and in the second floor of the house. Oil mops, waxed polishing cloths, etc., are fire hazards and should be properly stored. The exterior of these storage closets should harmonize with the other closets.

THE WAR OF TWO WORLDS

TARZAN HAD NO NEED TO URGE THE ELEPHANTS TO BATTLE THEY WERE INFURIATED BY THE CHALLENGING IRON MONSTERS

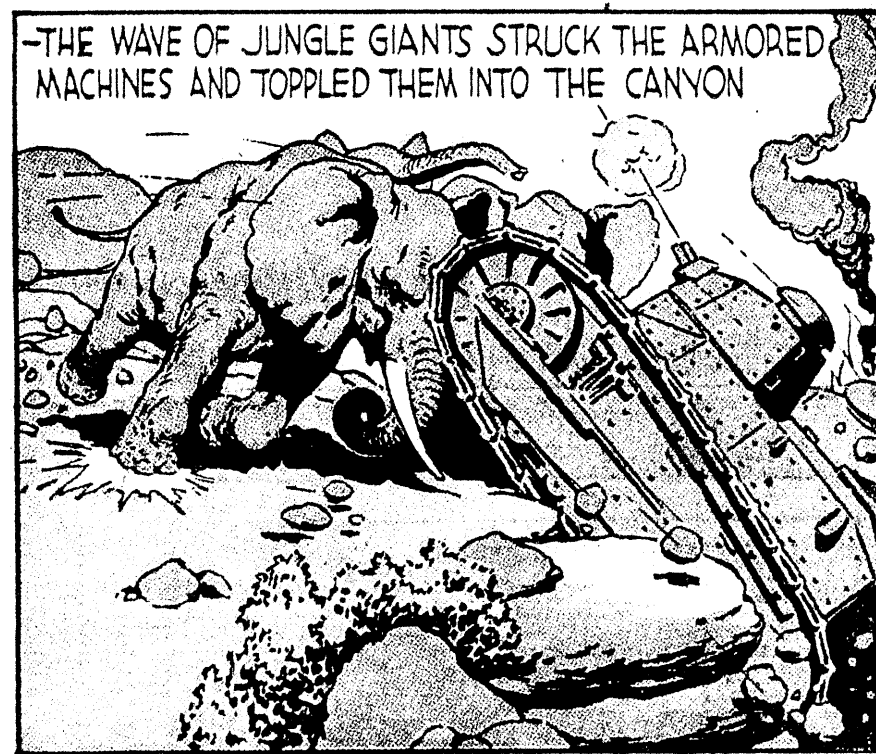

SO THE JUNGLE LORD LEAPED DOWN AND COMMANDED THE EXCITED LIONS TO CHARGE.

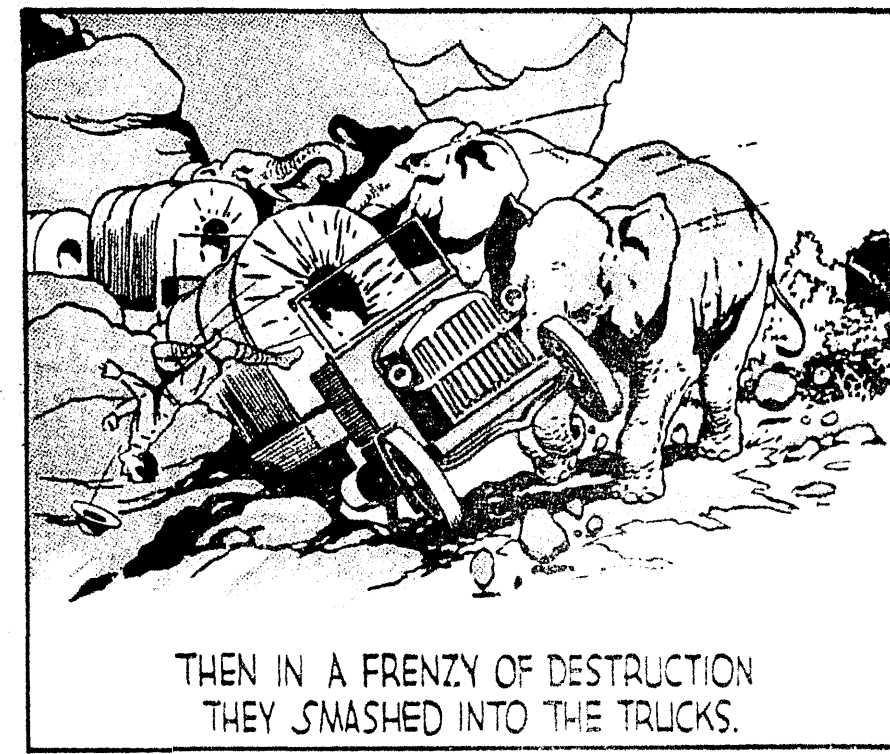

ALREADY THE FIGHTING APES WERE POUNGING FURIOUSLY UPON THE CONVOY OF TRUCKS.

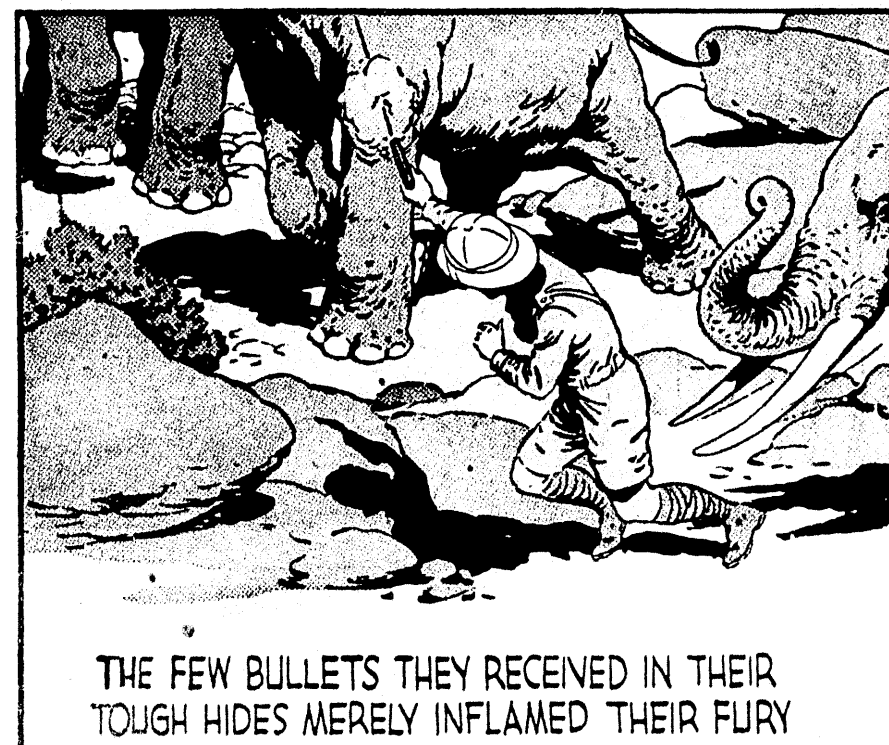

WHILE THE TERROR-STRICKEN TANKMEN FLUMBED TREMBLINGLY AT THE MACHINE-GUNS---

THE WAVE OF JUNGLE GIANTS STRUCK THE ARMORED MACHINES AND TOPPLED THEM INTO THE CANYON

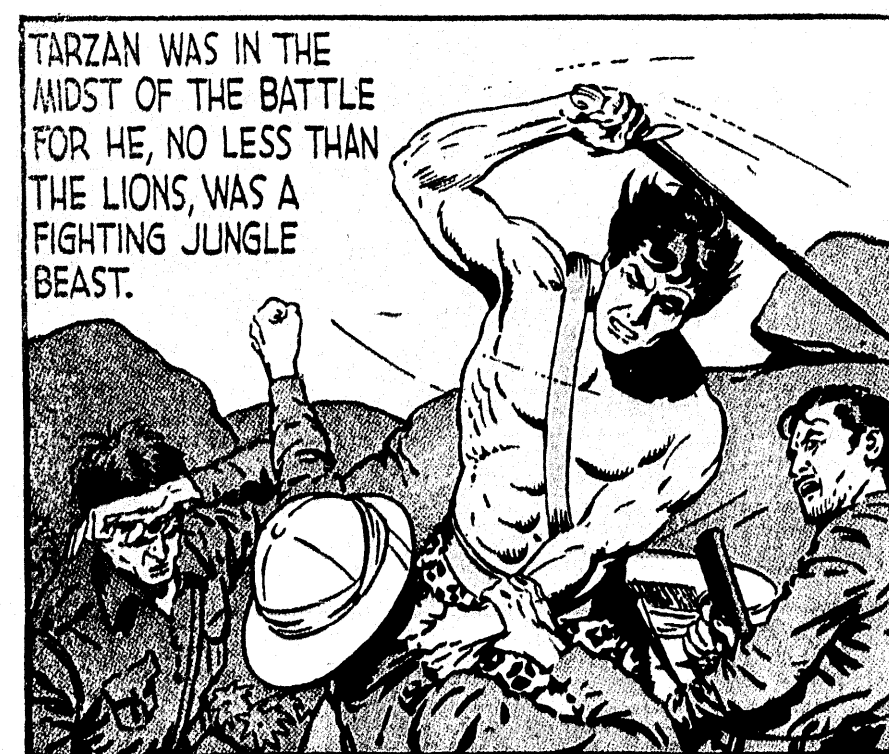

THEN IN A FRENZY OF DESTRUCTION THEY SMASHED INTO THE TRUCKS.

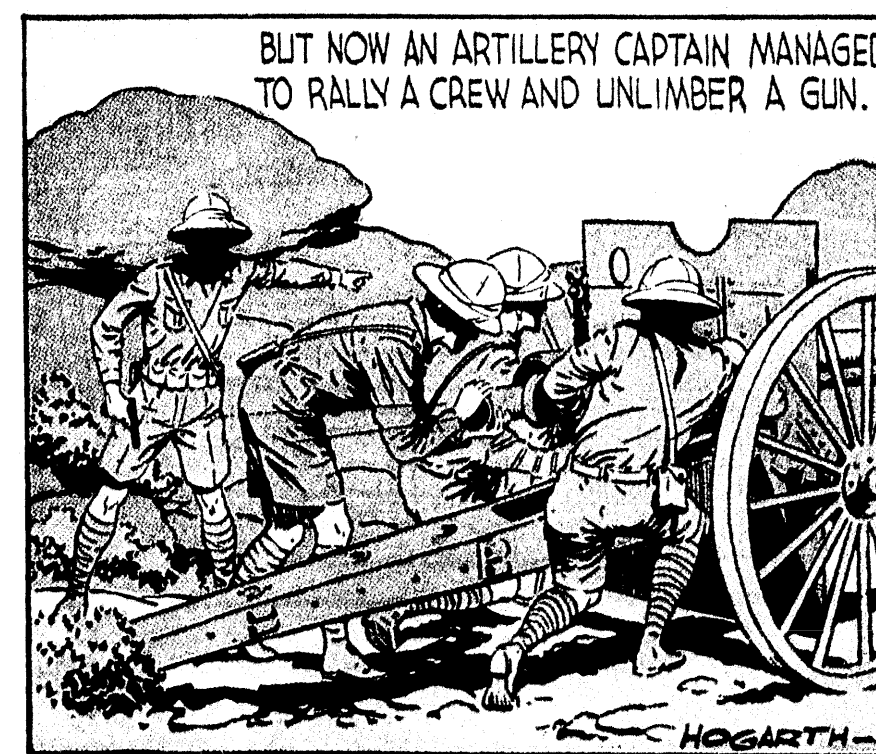

THE FEW BULLETS THEY RECEIVED IN THEIR TOUGH HIDES MERELY INFLAMED THEIR FURY

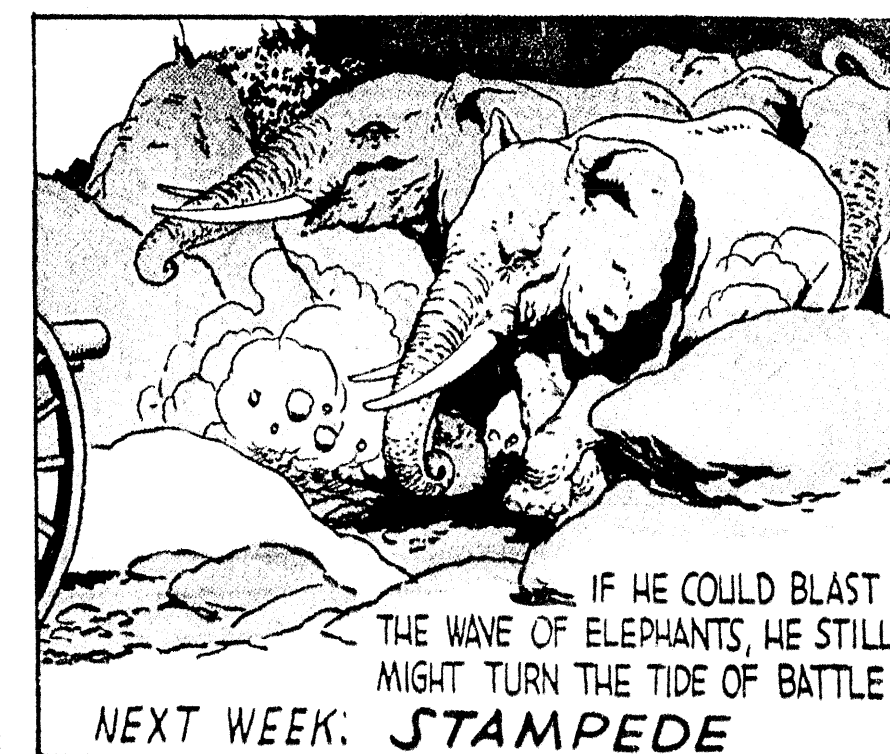

AND IN THE REAR, THE LIONS WERE TAKING A TERRIBLE TOLL. THE SOLDIERS WERE SO COMPRESSED IN PANICKY CONFUSION THAT THEIR WEAPONS WERE ALMOST USELESS.

TARZAN WAS IN THE MIDST OF THE BATTLE FOR HE, NO LESS THAN THE LIONS, WAS A FIGHTING JUNGLE BEAST.

BUT NOW AN ARTILLERY CAPTAIN MANAGED TO RALLY A CREW AND UNLIMBER A GUN.

IF HE COULD BLAST THE WAVE OF ELEPHANTS, HE STILL MIGHT TURN THE TIDE OF BATTLE!

DETHRONED "Autocrat of All the Russias," Nicholas Romanoff and his Czarist family set out for Siberian exile on a journey just 20 years ago that was to write a bloody chapter in history.

On Aug. 14, 1917, at 6:10 a. m., the perilous trip began. It took two trains to accommodate the travelers and their soldier jailers to Tiumen, whence they moved on to Tobolsk by river steamer. On the 18th the boat passed Pokrovskoe, birthplace of Rasputin. Standing on the deck the Czarina is said to have recalled the prophecy of Rasputin: "My death will be your death." At Tobolsk the exiles remained imprisoned until May of the following year, when all were transferred to Ekaterinburg.

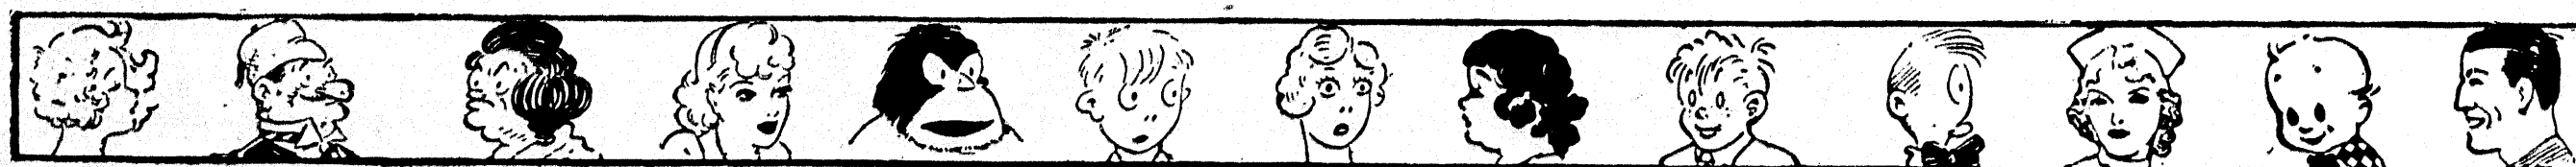

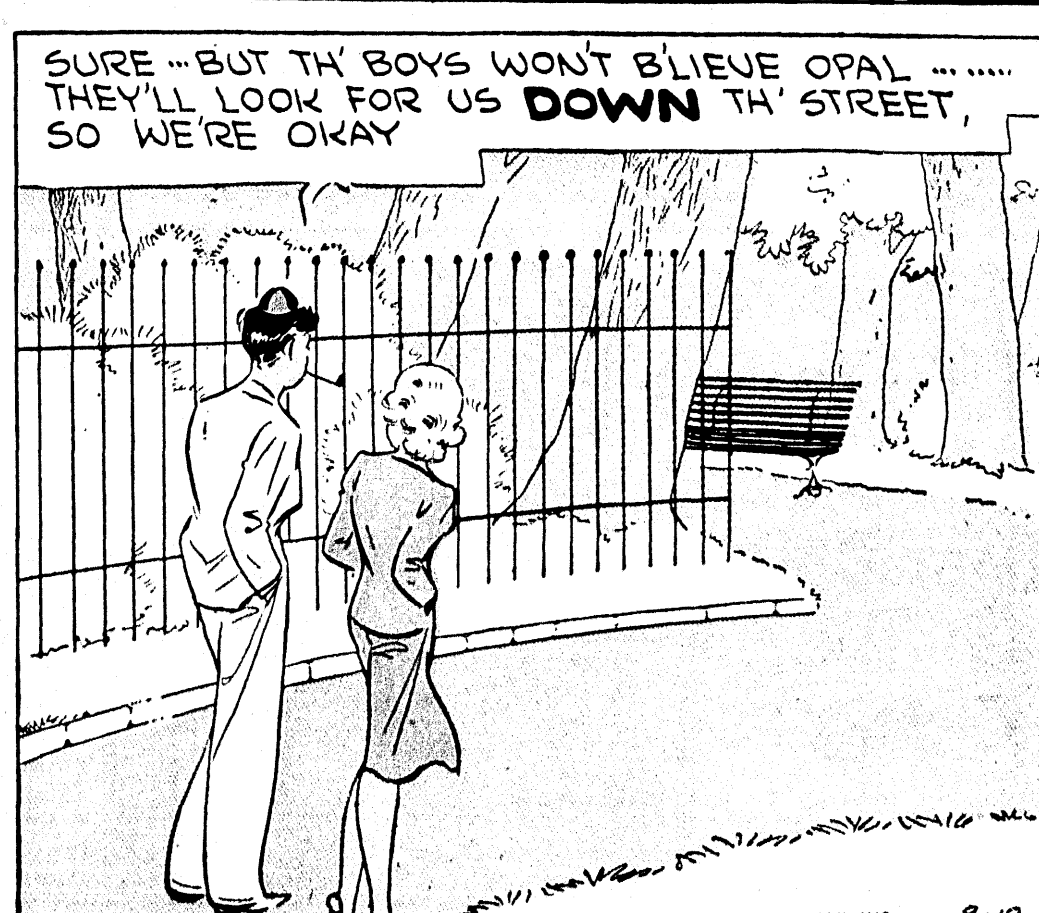

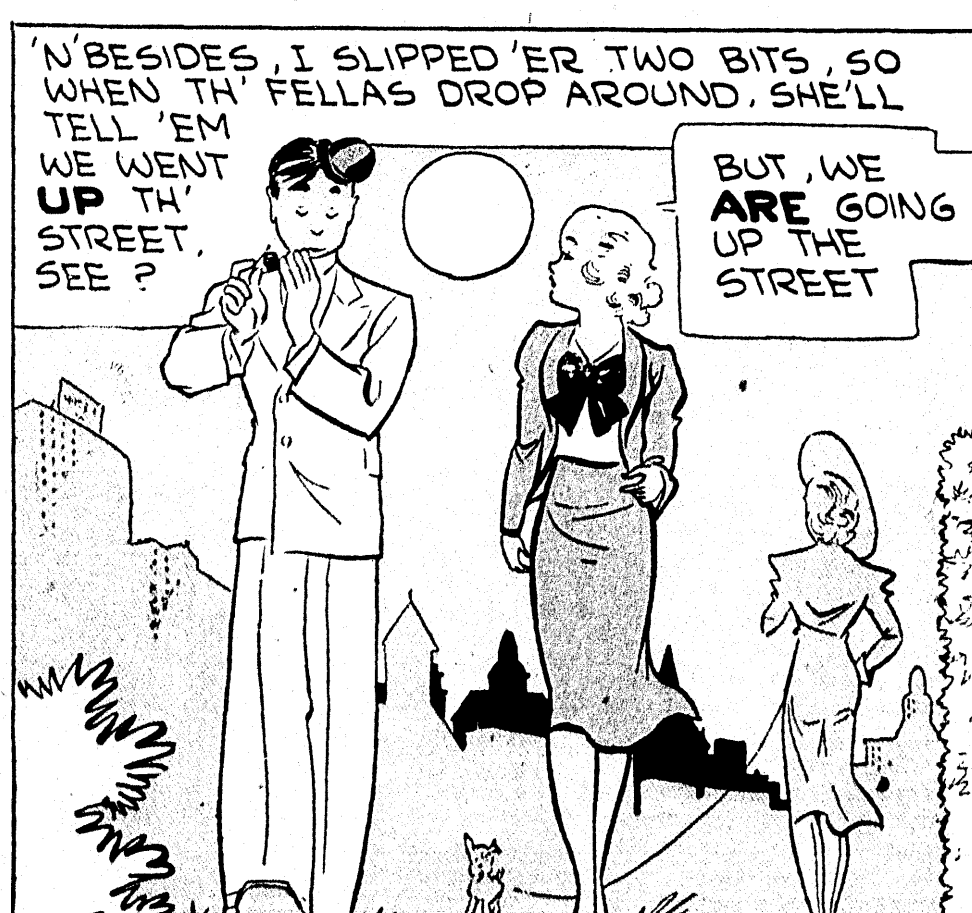

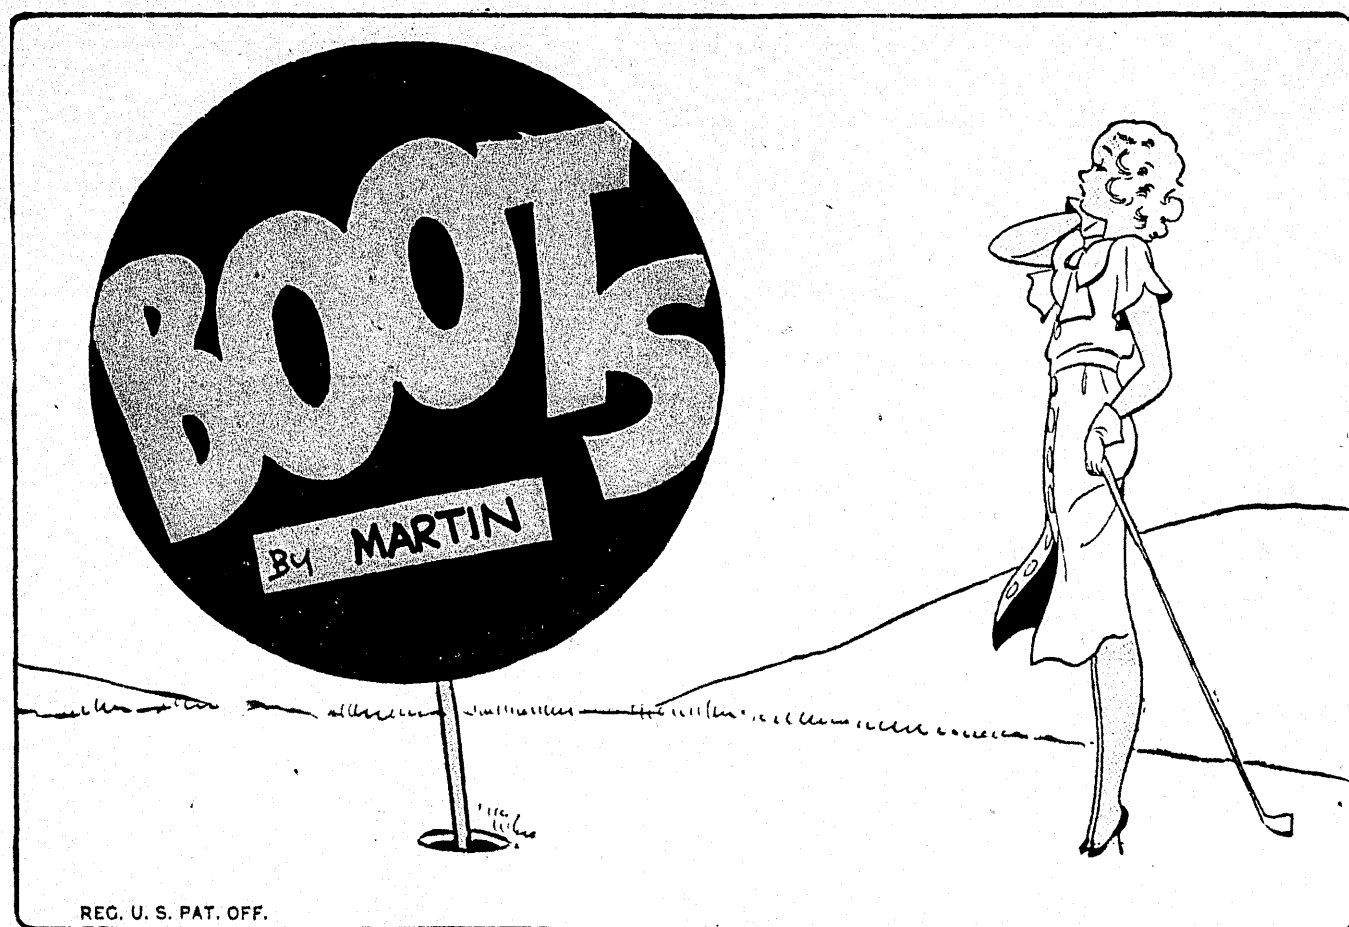

From May 23 confinement in the Ipatiev house in Ekaterinburg became increasingly brutal. Guards, on a high fence towered around the place, taunted the royal family. The pent-up bitterness of 300 years was boiling over.

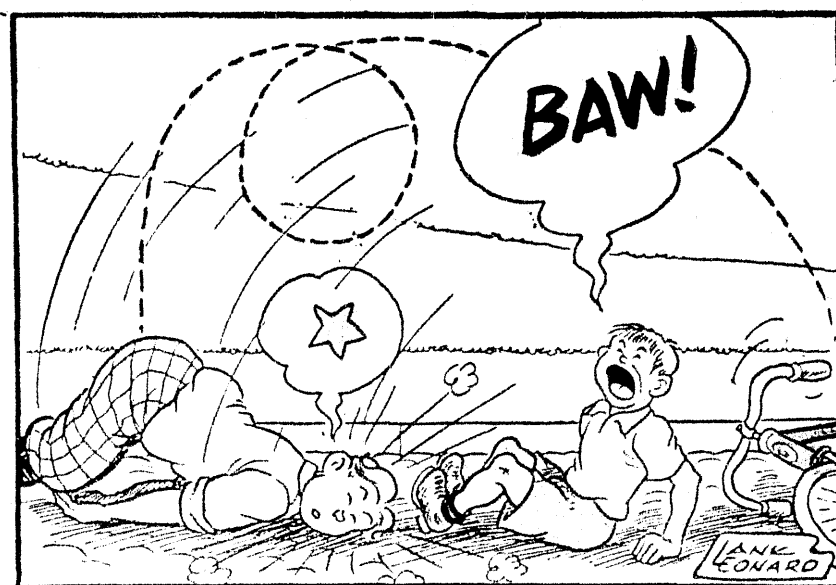

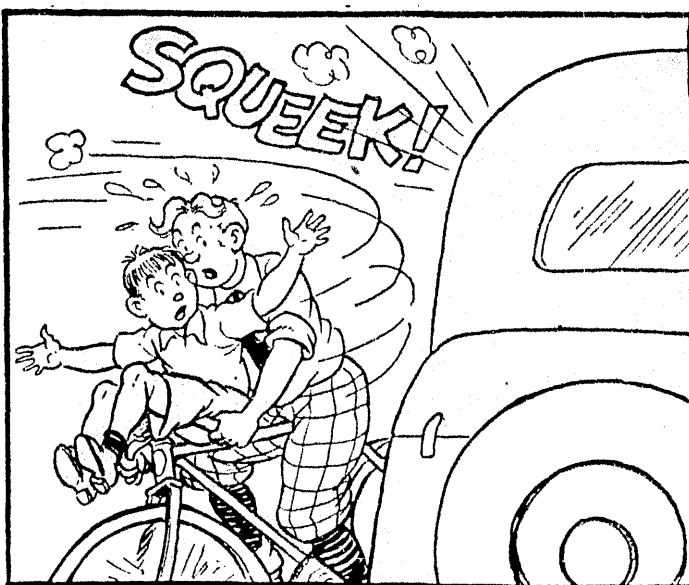

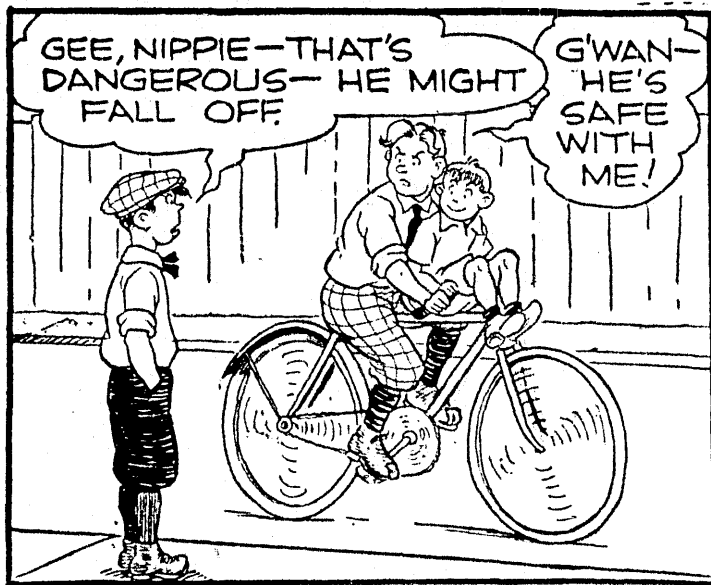

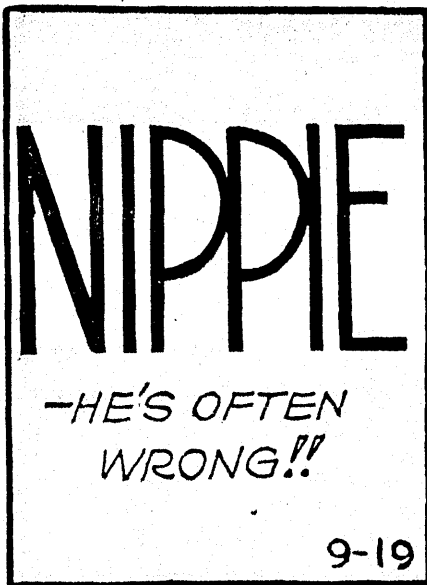

Came Tuesday night, July 16, 1918, when Jurovsky knocked at Nicholas' door and ordered the family to arise and dress. A few minutes later and the seven Romanoffs, accompanied by four loyal aides, entered the narrow cellar of the Ipatiev house. Twelve guards at once surrounded them simultaneously raising their rifles. And as dawn broke a little later, 12 guards came out, leaving behind the bodies of the last of the Romanoffs. Nicholas appears on a 1913 stamp.
